Defeated in War Germany May Win Peace Through Efforts of Her Labor

NEW YORK, April 28.—Germany, through the economy and sacrifices of her working people, has settled down to real production and is outstripping the United States and allied nations in the fight toward normalcy, Charles M. Schwab declared here today in an address before the chamber of commerce of the state of New York.

One Month for Autoist Charged With Driving While Intoxicated

One month in jail was the sentence imposed on Kostas Chmelinski by Judge Bright in the police court this morning, on charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The case was one of the first to be heard since His Honor's recent declaration that he would in future send all violators of this phase of the motor vehicle law to jail, regardless of what action the superior court might take. The plea of counsel for the defendant that the latter is a respected and property resident of Chelmsford failed to save him, as did his mention of the fact that Charles Hebert, whose case was heard just before, was sentenced to a fine of $50.

"By proper self-denial in expenditures, any man with a moderate income can find himself at sixty possessed of sufficient means to live without work if he wants to do so."

Some Truth, but not put exactly right. Our idea of Life and Living is that a MAN WITHOUT WORK whether Six, Sixty or Six Hundred years of age is not the most contented. The object of Life is not "TO LIVE WITHOUT WORK." Most real men at Sixty are working, unless physically unfit. It all works out like this: the man at Sixty, who has come through standing up, has no wish to LIVE WITHOUT WORK. He's not made of that stuff and if he was he would not have come through. If working at Sixty, you're blessed. Thank God you are so. And keep on Working. And keep on Living. And keep on Saving. And you will be the equal of any man. If when you die, you owe no man, you've done well. Old Man, if you, Young Man or Young Woman, have never saved, BEGIN!

IRISH DRIVE PROGRESSING

Campaign to Raise $45,000 Here Is Reaching Home Stretch

Elks Give $200—Button Day Saturday—Meeting Tomorrow Night

The local campaign to raise $45,000 for the relief of sufferers in Ireland, regardless of political or religious affiliations, continued to show progress today, but the canvassers will have to put forth a little more steam if the city is to go over the top by the end of the month, next Saturday, the designated time for the ending of the drive.

The present campaign has brought forth to date no large contributions from individuals although many organizations have donated material sums to the drive. The majority of contributions received to date range from $1 to $5 with here and there a few $10 offerings. It is the purpose of the committee in charge to make the campaign as widespread as possible and to give everybody an opportunity to contribute.

There are still hundreds of Lowell people who have not been approached and although the canvassers in the field are working to the limit of their capacity, it is doubtful if they will be able to reach all who are potential contributors before the end of the drive Saturday.

For that reason, it is asked that individuals who wish to aid the cause and relieve some of the suffering in the stricken country across the sea, take the initiative in sending their donations to the Lowell Trust Co., the Middlesex Safe Deposit & Trust Co., or to the campaign headquarters at 312 Merrimack street.

SENATOR PUTNAM CALLED AS WITNESS

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, April 28.—Senator Frank H. Putnam of Lowell was one of the witnesses called this morning to testify in the investigation being conducted relative to charges of alleged irregularity and misconduct in connection with street railway legislation in 1915 and 1916.

Senator Putnam told the committee that he did not purchase or sell any stocks in either of those years, that he knew of no member who did and that he had no knowledge of irregularity or misconduct of any sort.

Another witness called was former Representative Frank McMahon of Lowell who testified to the same effect as did former Senator Arthur W. Colburn of Danvers, former Representative James H. Wilkins of Carlisle and former Representative Maurice A. Buck of Billerica.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Cambridge Man Arraigned Here in Connection With Alcohol Swindle

Lowell Man Purchased 50 Gallons of Water at Alcohol Prices

Harry Shapiro, of Cambridge, was held today for the grand jury on charges of larceny of 1850 from Geo. Feldman, Ware st., Lowell, in connection with an alcohol swindle which marked a new angle in the art of bootlegging in this section. Judge Enright expressed himself as having no doubt that the defendant was in collusion with another man to defraud Feldman.

Some time ago Feldman purchased five 10-gallon cans supposed to contain alcohol, paying $650 for the lot. No sooner had the wet goods been delivered than the liquor-raiding squad swooped down on the Washington street barn where the stuff was stored, confiscated it, and haled Feldman before the court, where he was fined $100. Several weeks later, when the liquor officers were eating the cans to send them to the state house, they discovered that they were "faked," a narrow funnel having been inserted down the centre of the cans.

This was filled with alcohol, but the remainder of the contents was water. When Feldman was notified of the manner in which he had been tricked, he was notified of the manner in which he had been tricked.

"RED" LITERATURE DISTRIBUTED HERE

Circulars calling upon the workers to arm themselves for revolution against the United States government, were found distributed in the Helvidero section of the city today by the police. The documents, which violently attacked the American and other governments and predicted their downfall by force, were signed by what purported to be "the central executive committee, communist party of America."

The local police authorities immediately notified the department of justice officials at their Boston headquarters, forwarding copies of the circular. In view of the significance attached by radicals to May day, soon to be celebrated by red demonstrations throughout the world, a federal investigation may result from the finding of the documents here.

SPALDING PARK FOR BATTERY B

Commanding Officer Recommends Purchase in Letter to Mayor

City Must Furnish Grounds—Site Has Approval of State Authorities

Grounds to Be Used for Outdoor Drills and Schools of Instruction

The purchase of Spalding park by the city for use of Battery B of the 102d Field Artillery together with the headquarters detachment and combat train of the 102d Artillery is the proposition put before members of the municipal council by Capt. Wilfred C. MacBrayne, commanding officer of Battery B, in a letter received by Mayor Perry D. Thompson this morning.

The two outfits mentioned are the only local representatives of the National Guard and Capt. MacBrayne states that the statutes provide a fine of $5000 for any city or town that fails to provide a proper drill field for such outfits as those by Lowell.

Capt. MacBrayne says several sites in Lowell were inspected by Major Hopkins, U.S.A., inspector-instructor for Massachusetts artillery, but that Spalding park was the only one which met their requirements. Major Hopkins has characterized the tract as ideal in every way and has given it his approval for the purposes of the artillery units.

The captain says that the requirements of a drill and equitation field for the artillery include level and gravelly soil for use of horses, heavy guns and for camping purposes; nearness to a railroad siding for quick entraining; a location away from the business centre and yet within one square from Merrimack square, and a site which could be approved by the state.

He says that Spalding park meets all these requirements and an additional advantage is the fact that it has a 12-foot fence which will allow the artillery horses to be turned loose at times and will be an advantage in the conduct of equitation schools.

Capt. MacBrayne says that Major Hopkins has expressed the opinion that if the city makes the purchase now, the state will probably later take the property from the city and reimburse it for whatever sum it now pays.

If the grounds are purchased, the captain writes, they will be used by the artillery units during the next six months for weekly outdoor drills and a summer encampment. The horses for the battery are expected at any time, he says, and in conclusion, he urgently requests that action be taken at once. He adds that the members of the battery are all Lowell men. The matter will probably come before the council at its regular meeting next Tuesday.

This week's payroll for city departments totals $35,761.53. The payrolls of the street and sewer departments show a reduction from the figures of the previous week, due in a large measure, to the stormy weather of last week.

HARDING REVIEWS ATLANTIC FLEET

Fleet Pays Commander-in-Chief's Honors to President at Hampton Roads

Continuous Canonade Follows Thunder of Presidential Salute

Greatest Naval Spectacle in Home Waters Since Before the World War

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The Atlantic fleet, bringing back a new record of accomplishment from its southern drill grounds, passed in ceremonial review before President Harding today as it entered home waters in Hampton Roads. It was the greatest naval spectacle here since before the war.

More than 60 ships of war, led by the flagship Pennsylvania, were in the long column that filed by to pay a commander-in-chief's honors to the president as he stood with Secretary Denby and a party of officials on the bridge of his yacht, the Mayflower.

A low cloud curtain screened the sunlight from the pageant, softening the grim lines of deck and turret, but adding a hint of near-dusk to the sombre picture. For

FEMININE GOVERNMENT

Hopes to Produce Results

Rather Than Promises in

Thayer, Kas.

THAYER, Kan., April 28.—The feminine government of this town, swept into power at the recent municipal election, promises Thayer a "business like, forward-looking administration," but is not announcing any "dramatic promises of reform." The entire women's ticket—mayor, police judge and five councilwomen—was elected by a four to one vote over the men's ticket. This is the only town in the state which has a woman mayor.

"We have no campaign pledges to fulfill; we made no pledges, for we were drafted for the nominations," asserted Mrs. A. H. Forrest, the new mayor. "However we intend to serve with all our hearts and trust that we will produce results, rather than promises.

"This town, like many small towns you know our population was only 328 in the last census—was suffering from ennui. The women of the town through the women's clubs have been trying to do things for the town, and have succeeded to some extent. However, I believe we will be in position to do much more now that we have an entire corps of city officials in entire sympathy with these efforts.

"Neither myself nor any of my associates was consulted in regard to the nomination. It was conferred on us by those who stand for a progressive policy, and they manufactured the slogans of the campaign, 'Get Thayer out of the Jack-oaks stage,' and 'Vote for the women; it means a clean town!'

"We shall try to give the city a businesslike, forward-looking administration. Just what our program will be, I cannot say until we have met and formulated one."

Heretofore the "city fathers" have been for the most part aged men. The men's ticket in the recent campaign was dubbed "the Jack-oaks ticket" due to the fact that all the candidates were

SHE CAN'T FIND WORDS TO EXPRESS HER JOY

Mrs. Gamache Was Almost in Despair When She Began Taking Tanlac—Gains 18 Pounds on Three Bottles

"My friends tell me I want to talk about Tanlac all the time and they are right about it for no woman ever had more cause to be grateful to a medicine than I have to Tanlac," said Mrs. Yvonne Gamache, 375 Middleboro ave., East Taunton.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was almost in the depths of despair, as I had been in miserable health for two years and everything I had tried had failed to help me. I had no appetite, even the thought of anything to eat was distasteful to me and I was so nervous I didn't get enough rest day or night to do any good. Many a night I didn't get so much as a wink of sleep. I was so weak and worn out I felt tired all the time. I went to bed tired, got up tired and felt tired all day long. I fell off in weight until I was little more than a shadow and was almost desperate as all I could see in the future was a life of misery and final helplessness.

"I can hardly find words to express the joy and happiness I felt when Tanlac proved to be just what I had been needing all along. It certainly is different from other medicines. It benefited me in every way. In fact, just made me feel like a different person. I seemed to get new life and energy with every dose. I have an appetite now, the life of which I never expected to have again and everything agrees with me. Why, just to think, I have gained 18 pounds in weight on just three bottles. My nervousness is all gone and I sleep as peacefully as a child every night and get up in the morning so refreshed and happy I just can't keep from singing as I dress myself. Of course, I am enthusiastic about Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Hillebrand, Mass.; Shaw's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by all the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

AMERICANS TO ASSIST

Will Take Active Part in Congress of International Chamber of Commerce

PARIS, April 28.—Arrangements for the London congress of the International chamber of commerce to begin Monday, June 27, have just been made by the board of directors at a meeting here.

Delegates to the congress will be organized in five groups. Walter D. Hines, formerly United States director general of railroads, will be chairman of the group for transportation and communications, while the chairman of the other four groups will be Dr. Walter Leaf, Great Britain, for finance; Eugene Schneider, France, for production; Matteo Cassin, Italy, for distribution; and Lucien A. Roeters, Belgium for devastated regions.

The American representatives on group committees will probably be: Finance, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York; production, E. G. Miner, president of the Pfau & Co., Rochester, N. Y.; and distribution, Leonard Swape, president of the International General Electric company, N. Y.

In addition a committee has been appointed to sit during the congress to deal with questions relating to the organization and operations of the international chamber on which the American representative will be John H. Fahney of Boston. The representative of the United States on the committee which will consider resolutions to be placed before the general meeting will be Joseph G. DeFrees, president of the United States chamber of commerce.

The board approved nearly 300 applications for membership. These included recognized organizations in various countries and 125 firms or individuals who were admitted as associate members.

Select committees appointed by international chamber will report to the London congress. Among questions being considered by these committees, with names of American representatives who have attended committee meetings, are: Double taxation, Robert Grant, Jr., Lee, Higginson & Co.; commercial arbitration, S. G. Archibald; international credits, H. E. Bedford, Jr., Paris.

LIVES IN AN OLD BARN

British M. P. Gives Away

Mansion and 20 House to

Avert Danger of Revolt

HYDE, Eng., April 28.—Austin Hopkinson, a member of the house of commons, has just given to the local governing council of Hyde his mansion, valued at $150,000, and 20 other houses and he has gone to live in an old barn on what was once a part of his estate. He has taken this action because he believes that a manifestation of the spirit of self-sacrifice on the part of public servants would avert any danger of a revolution in England.

Mr. Hopkinson's other deeds of generosity include the disposal of his furniture to friends and the needy, partly by sale at bargain prices and partly by free gift. He gave his handsome automobile to his chauffeur. The latter has been started in business with it. His former employer, the owner of the machine, is one of his best customers.

To questioners, Mr. Hopkinson has said his intention was to live the life of a simple workman and to help others as much as possible. In his own workshops, he has introduced a profit-sharing system that is without precedent inasmuch as the higher the yield the less he receives, and after a certain sum is reached, he is to receive nothing at all.

During the war Hopkinson was an officer. He was discharged as unfit, but rejoined as a private.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. today reduced its quarterly dividend to one per cent.

URGE COX TO DROP TRUSTEES

Leaders of Carmen Say Board Broke Contract and Ignores Arbitration

Also Charge Plan to Intimidate Men—Chairman Loring Attacked

BOSTON, April 25.—Speeches and a resolution advocating the removal of the public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway and calling on Gov. Cox to compel the trustees to submit their differences with their employees to arbitration, were made and adopted at an open mass meeting in Tremont Temple, last night, held under the auspices of the unions on that system.

The resolution, which was presented by William J. Walsh, business agent of Boston Car Men's union, was unanimously adopted amid cheering and hand-clapping that could be heard a considerable distance from the temple. The meeting authorized George H. Keegan, its chairman, to appoint a committee of 19 to call on the governor and make known to him the action of the meeting. The resolution reads as follows:

"We, the representatives of organized labor in Massachusetts, in mass meeting assembled, have heard the representatives of the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway System present the facts in their controversy with the public trustees of the company.

"These trustees are public officials appointed by the governor of Massachusetts and can be removed by him for cause.

"We think a great reason for such a removal is the flagrant violation not only of their contract but their denial of the great principle of arbitration of industrial disputes in this state.

"We therefore request his Excellency the governor to compel these trustees to submit their differences with their employees to fair, just and equitable arbitration and we call upon this splendid meeting to authorize the chairman to appoint a committee of 19 to wait upon the governor at his earliest convenience to present to him the action taken here tonight."

Attacks Loring

The meeting was opened by Mr. Keegan, who gave a resume of the situation. He charged that Homer R. Loring, chairman of the trustees, dominated that body, and asserted that it is up to the governor to remove the trustees and give the carmen a board that will recognize that the employee has at least an equality in arbitration of what they should work for and under what conditions.

"In this state," Mr. Keegan said, "there is a tribunal set up by the laws of this commonwealth for arbitration of industrial disputes, and how the arbitrary attitude of this board can be sustained in the present instance, with the carmen willing to arbitrate all questions and differences at issue, is more than I can imagine.

"While we were negotiating and voting on their propositions they were setting up cot beds in the bums of the various divisions to terrorize our members and their families, and we hope that the people of this state will insist that this board give the carmen a fair, just and equitable arbitration. Instead of allowing them to force over 2500 men on the street, simply to break up their organization and thus deny them the right of representation and collective bargaining."

Patrick J. O'Brien, second vice president of the Cement & International union, related the methods taken to adjust the present controversy with the trustees, step by step, from the time he was assigned to the dispute several months ago. He declared that the present policy of the trustees was premeditated, and charged them with "sitting up nights to hatch schemes to break the unions. He declared that the principal object of the men to the present man cars was that originally they were without safety appliances, and that while the rules of the company afforded them some protection, it left the men at the mercy of anyone in case of accident.

Atty. James H. Vahey received an ovation. He declared that there had been only two arbitrations in 15 years of the system and the men's unions up to the receivership in 1917, and said that the pleasantest relation existed with Mr. Donham during the receivership, but that it's been one of a time since the public trustees took over the control of this system.

"The representatives of the different municipalities have indicated that they want arbitration. The trustees, while endeavoring to insult the employees and riders by stating they are willing to arbitrate wages, coupled with their statement the threat that if the men insist on arbitration they will have no union agreement.

"The trustees and their paid agent, Fred A. Cummings, who is drawing a large salary for misrepresenting this situation, have tried to divert the attention of the employees and public from the real issue to me, stating that I was trying to enrich myself at the expense of the car-riding public. In truth and fact, these statements are the personal opinion of Mr. Cummings, but insofar as the arbitration costs and fees are concerned, I am willing that the joint conference board disclose their books and show what they actually paid me. At the same time, the trustees are willing to disclose Atty. Hubbert's fee, their representative in the arbitration proceedings of last year.

"It is commonly reported that the arbitration cost them in the neighborhood of $75,000, and I am willing to wager that the trustees paid Mr. Hubbert and his associates more for the six or seven weeks of arbitration than the employees paid me for the whole year that I was employed to represent and work for them."

SHORT OF BREATH AND ALWAYS TIRED

This Describes the Condition of Many Who Suffer From Anemia

When the blood is thin, as in anemia, it lacks the red corpuscles that take oxygen from the air we breathe and carry it to the tissues of the body. Oxygen is the part of the air that sustains animal life.

When the blood cannot absorb and carry oxygen the effect on the body is the same as when the air is deficient in oxygen, as in a close room. The result is a feeling of suffocation often described by anemic people as "shortness of breath."

Exercise, such as walking upstairs causes the heart action to increase, the blood demands more oxygen and the shortness of breath is combined with palpitation of the heart. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the blood making tonic, is the remedy just suited for this condition. These pills actually increase the oxygen carrying capacity of the blood and the shortness of breath and palpitation are quickly corrected.

"I am always glad to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. Mary Stephenson, of No. 17 Huron st., Providence, R. I., "as I think that they are an excellent tonic for building up the blood."

"Many years ago when I was living in England I was confined in a convalescent hospital with anemia. Every bit of strength seemed to have left my body. I breathed with great difficulty and going up stairs was such an effort that I was exhausted by it. I had no desire for food and my sleep was restless and broken. I lost in weight and became very pale."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were suggested to me by my physician and the first box showed that they were adapted to my trouble. The first thing I noticed was that I breathed more easily, then my appetite improved and with that I became stronger. I began to sleep well and rested when I arose. My color returned and my general health was good. Several people to whom I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been benefited by their use."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60c a box. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

M'CALL JUSTIFIES THE PUBLIC CONTROL ACT

BOSTON, April 25.—An appearance of hunger on the faces of Boston Elevated railway conductors and motormen in the winter of 1917-18 was partly responsible for the decision of Governor Samuel W. McCall to send a special message to the legislature to consider public control of the road, he testified yesterday. He appeared before the joint legislative committee which is investigating alleged irregularities of the law making bodies of two and three years ago.

The former governor told how Boston Elevated public control legislation came before the legislature, recalling that the board of directors of the company had applied to him for relief from financial troubles in May, 1916, and that he had suggested appointment of a special commission to inquire into public control matters. This body reported in the spring of 1917.

The next winter it was brought to my attention that a strike of the elevated was likely, which would have been disastrous, and would have prostrated Boston," he said.

"The maximum pay of the conductors and motormen was about 33 cents an hour and I was informed they were the lowest paid group in the country—that it was hardly a living wage."

He said that James H. Vahey, general counsel for the Carmen's union, sought him in efforts to prevent a strike.

"At his suggestion," Mr. McCall continued, "I wrote a letter asking the men to defer their strike to allow an opportunity for mediation. He carried the letter to a meeting of the men and finally secured the consent of the men to delay the thing for two or three days."

"Later I went before the men and it seemed to me that they looked hungry—they looked as if they were having a struggle. I made up my mind after that to send the special message."

He said he did not favor public ownership, but that he recommended to the legislature that the public service commission be given power to fix rates during the continuance of war and for a year afterwards. This did not seem to meet the approval of the legislature.

Mr. McCall added that he had called upon Atty. Gen. Henry C. Atwell to assist him in finding a solution of the problem. Later the public control bill was passed and he signed it.

"With the road on its last legs and with business conditions at the time at an acute point I think that there was no governor in the history of the state who would not have signed the measure," he said.

Mr. Atwell, who followed Mr. McCall on the stand, asserted that the drafting and enactment of the bill were "above board in every particular." The Boston Elevated did not get all it wanted in the development of the bill, he said.

TWO INJURED BY AUTOMOBILES

Eugene J. Perrault, of Moody street, an employee of the J. C. White Coal company, was taken to the Lowell corporation hospital yesterday after a motor truck had run over him, injuring his leg. The police report of the accident is to the effect that a shovel fell off the truck, and when Perrault jumped off to get it, he was struck by the machine. A shovel of which went over his leg. The shovel struck covered on Allen street.

Mrs. Marietta Quinn, of Pawtucket street was struck by an automobile at the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets last evening and received painful injuries to her head. She was taken to the Lowell corporation hospital, where it was found that she was resting comfortably and in condition was not serious. The automobile that figured in the accident was owned and was being operated by Albert Moisan of 163 Seventh ave.

Harding Reviews Fleet

the fleet wore the serious gray now used in peace and war alike, and decks were cleared almost as for action, a precaution always taken at sea.

Continuous Canonade

It was a few minutes past 9 o'clock when the Pennsylvania, passing the reviewing ship, opened up the thunder of her presidential salute, and before the 21 guns had been spent, the next ship in line took up the firing while the Mayflower's batteries spoke in acknowledgment. The canonade continued in an almost unbroken roar until the review was over.

Crews of the battleships manned the rails in living walls of blue as the fighting craft steamed by. On the quarterdeck of each the marine guards snapped to "present arms" opposite the Mayflower, and the hands played the opening bars of The Star Spangled Banner. In return the presidential yacht paid the proper honors to the senior officer on each passing ship, firing a salute, however, only to the Pennsylvania.

Harding's First Review

It was Mr. Harding's first review of any part of the nation's sea power since he assumed office, and it was the navy's first opportunity to salute him. From the proud flagship Pennsylvania down to the humble "beef boats" and from admiral down to bluejackets, ships and men were sleek and alert for the occasion.

Before the fleet entered the Virginia capes, the Mayflower, which came down from Washington last night with President and Mrs. Harding and their party, was at anchor off Thimble light. Nearby was the naval yacht Sylph on which Secretary Denby and members of the house naval committee came to Hampton Roads, while private yachts, excursion boats and ferries clustered around the reviewing party.

Asst. Sec. Roosevelt Aboard

With Admiral Wilson, fleet commander on the Pennsylvania, was Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, who made the cruise from Guantanamo with the fleet and was on the flagship's bridge when she passed the Mayflower. The blue and white flag of the assistant secretary fluttered from a mast.

The president, accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a few members of the senate naval and military committees, reached the reviewing point on the Mayflower from Washington in the early morning. Arriving with the presidential yacht was the naval yacht Sylph, bearing Secretary Denby, Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations, and members of the naval committee of the house of representatives. Before the review Mr. Denby and his party joined those aboard the Mayflower.

Admiral Wilson's armada reached Virginia capes late yesterday from Guantanamo bay, Cuba, and anchored for the night in Lynnhaven bay. Early today the fleet weighed anchor, and creled past the capes so as to reach the review point at the scheduled hour. The ships moved in single line formation, with the eight dreadnaughts in the van. Behind them came three pre-dreadnaughts, 18 destroyers, the mine laying force, 14 submarines and various auxiliaries.

This force went south early in January for joint maneuvers with the Pacific fleet in Panama bay and a cruise to South America. Returning, it spent several weeks at Guantanamo, in what naval officers have described as the most successful winter drill in the history of the navy.

Tomorrow the fleet will break rank, the individual ships scattering to their home yards for overhauling and repairs while the officers and men go on leave to visit their families.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of calomite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—with the parts and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomite powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the calomite powder and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.—Adv.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

Former Waitress, Happy When Poor, Finds Unhappiness in Riches

Mrs.
William Miller
Graham

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., April 28.—The love which comes with youth and poverty cannot always withstand the test of age and great wealth.

Such at least has been the experience of Mrs. William Miller Graham, society woman prominent on both sides of the Atlantic, whose recent divorce from her husband, a wealthy oil operator of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has just been announced.

"From Waitress to Royal Circles" might well be the title of Mrs. Graham's romantic story. At 18 she was a waitress in her mother's boarding house in Philadelphia. To her, out of the west, came William Miller Graham, wealthy in ambition and prospects, but poor of purse. The two fell in love and were married. Later, a daughter was born to them.

Years passed and Graham cashed in on his prospects until his wealth was reputed to be $60,000,000. They went to Europe and Mrs. Graham became the intimate friend of King Edward of England. The Prince of Wales has pronounced the daughter to be the most beautiful girl in the United States.

But as the days of their youth faded into memories, so did the love which had helped them prosper. After 25 years they separated. Several attempts at reconciliations failed and their 35 years of married life finally culminated in divorce.

Coincident with the announcement of her divorce, Mrs. Graham announced the breaking of the engagement of her daughter Gertrude to Whitney Warren, Jr., of New York city.

CCT LINES Mrs. William Miller Graham, who was happy with her husband when they were poor and struggling for wealth, but who now that they are rich, has obtained her freedom through a divorce court.

LETTER FROM HARDING

President Expresses Hope That U. S. Will Soon Bring About Real Peace

BOSTON, April 28.—A hope that the United States would soon be able to effect real progress toward a substantial peace, was expressed by President Harding in a letter which was read at the annual dinner of the Middlesex club last night. He referred to present conditions as constituting a nominal peace which lacks many benefits of a real peace.

"General Grant's advice 'Let us have peace' is a peculiarly proper theme," the president wrote in taking notice of the fact that the occasion was a Grant anniversary observance. "The world has had nominal peace for a considerable period now, without many of the advantages and benefits of peace," he continued. "It never needed the substance of truth and peace more than it does today. I have no more earnest hope than that in the not very distant future, our government may be able to effect real accomplishments in this direction."

When the French armies go into training this fall they will use the same trenches and dugouts that sheltered the allied heroes during the war. England has 552 ex-officers of the world war registered as unemployed.

WAS IN BED THREE DAYS Mrs. Josie Reed, 217 N. Exeter street, Tulsa, Okla., writes: "I was in bed three days with my back. I took Foley's Kidney Pills and in two days was on my work again." They help eliminate from the system the poisons that cause baryache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints, sore muscles, burning in the back, 415 Middlesex street, Moody & Bigelow, 301 Central st.—Adv.

With the exception of Gen. Pershing, Harbord McRider of Iowa has more decorations than any other American who served in the United States army.

MRS. NELLIE WOODSFORD SPEAKS TO MOTHERS

East Boston.—At 23 Lamson st., Mrs. Nellie Woodsford and her children now "live happy and grateful" to Dr. True's Elixir. Mrs. Woodsford says: "My bowels were out of order and my breath bad. I had terrible headaches and it seemed I had suffered years before your Dr. True's Elixir was brought to me. After a short time I was myself again, my bowels were all right and I'm full of gratitude." "It may interest you to know also that once since my youngest child was terribly sick and it was a serious case. We all have your Elixir to thank for relieving her stomach worms."

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, has done wonders for children and grown-ups since 1851. Pleasant to take, mild in action.—Adv.

All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty-cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

PLAN WAR MANOEUVERS HELD FORMAL OPENING

American Soldiers on the Rhine Soon to Begin Big Program

COBLENZ, April 28. (The Associated Press).—If Americans at home imagine that the life of the soldiers composing the American army of occupation on the Rhine is one of idleness they will be a long way from the truth.

The little fighting force of 10,000 men has to be kept hard, trained and ready for quick action, and that means work—eight hours of it a day at drill, study, target practice or maneuvers, for it is the purpose of the general staff here to maintain uniform hours.

Most of the American doughboy's eight-hour day is spent in drill which occupies from three to five hours daily, varying according to the circumstances and needs of the different units.

A visitor to this American community transplanted into the centre of Europe would find the American boys just now preparing for a summer of grim war maneuvers, for the open training season has just commenced and will continue until Oct. 31.

The regular target season, which is now in full swing, will last until July 31. It is being held on the target ground ranges built by the Germans a few miles east of the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein. It includes known distance practice, combat firing and company proficiency tests.

Problems, marches, exercises and maneuvers, including night operations and combats in woods for units up to and including a company are also part of the day's work.

Field work for the battalion will commence as soon as battalions have completed all firing.

The second period, from Aug. 1 to Sept. 15, will include battalion, regimental and brigade maneuvers and terrain exercises. During this period, one week for each brigade will be reserved for battalion combat problems with live ammunition and in conjunction with auxiliary arms. As Gen. Allen puts it: "We do everything that is done in war except killing men. During this period, units will be required to carry out exercises involving movements on short notice to distant locations, followed by the occupation or attack of positions."

The third period from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30 will be taken by maneuvers of the full army of occupation and the result expected is the close of the period is thorough preparation for war of the American forces in Germany.

During the fourth period, from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31, brigade and separate unit commanders will correct deficiencies noted during the previous field training.

During the past winter months special courses in educational and vocational training were taken by soldiers. They included commercial training, shorthand, typewriting and accounting; mechanical training included automobile driving, pipe fitting, plumbing; also a cooks' and bakers' school which had a large attendance in an effort to live down Marshall Fagella's famous live donkey of the American army; that they could not cook. An engineers' school and a horse-shoers' school were also filled to capacity.

About 50 soldiers to each company were permitted to employ three hours of their eight-hour day to the pursuit of these studies but from now on, all educational and vocational training will be suspended and it will be war maneuvers for the American soldier. With the schedule enumerated above, it will be seen that he has his work cut out for him until Oct. 31.

ONE KILLED IN HEAD- ON AUTO CRASH

LAWRENCE, April 28.—One man was killed, another probably fatally injured, two others were slightly injured and two girls had a narrow escape from serious injury in an automobile collision at the corner of South Broadway and Weare street here last night. The driver of one car was arrested charged with manslaughter.

The dead man is Joseph Burke, 21 years old, of 130 Lowell street, this city.

The injured are Amias Barconian of Chandler road, Andover, dying at the Lawrence General hospital. Fractured skull and multiple injuries.

John Clark of 221 Bailey street, this city, cut about face and arms; treated at hospital and sent home.

Daniel Barabarian, Chandler road, Andover, slight cuts; treated at hospital. According to the police, Burke, in company with Miss May Burns and Miss May Cash and John Clarke, all of this city, were in a five-passenger car coming from the direction of Andover.

Barabarian and Barconian were riding toward Andover in a sedan. At the junction of the two streets the cars crashed head-on.

Guests Welcomed and Entertained at New Furniture Store of Adams & Co.

One of the most completely appointed furniture stores in New England was formally opened yesterday afternoon when the firm of Adams & Co. entertained nearly 1000 local people at a house warming in its new Market street quarters. The concern, located for 44 years in the Appleton bank building, has occupied a year in completely renovating its new premises which were vacated by the Smith Hardware company in April, 1920.

Charles E. Bartlett, proprietor of the establishment, acted as host to the crowds which thronged the four stories of the store from 2 to 5 p. m., the hours of the formal celebration. An orchestra provided music and light refreshments were served to guests.

Every lady visitor also was presented with a pink, while an additional souvenir was given to all. The shop has been most artistically renovated, with new fittings, new elevator, and on the ground floor a completely new lighting system. The new and rattan furniture are located on the ground floor, while on the second, upholstered goods and rugs are to be found. The third floor houses dining room and chamber furniture, and office furniture and metal beds are on the fourth floor, where the upholstering rooms are also placed. Twenty people are employed by the company.

Edwards Adams founded the firm of Adams & Co. in the year 1842, in collaboration with William Runt. Since that date until March 15 of the present year the firm occupied its headquarters in the Appleton bank block. The Market street rooms have been planned by Mr. Bartlett with the object of providing every convenience and modern development in the display of furniture. The new windows at the front of the building have been artistically refitted, and it is believed that they contribute toward making the establishment one of the most sumptuous furniture houses in the New England states.

PICTURE THE LIFE OF ROBIN HOOD'S BAND

Sedate choir singers depicted themselves in the roles of a cantata dealing with the fortunes of Robin Hood and his merry band of Sherwood forest outlaws in the First Presbyterian church last night. The cantata, entitled "Sherwood's Queen," is the product of the pen of T. Mee Patterson.

All of the familiar characters of Robin Hood's band, who have lived in English story and song through the centuries, are in the cast of the cantata. Robin Hood is there with his gallant and mischievous, Frisk Tuck, bow and arrow, moves back and forth in the scenes. Marian, of course, appears, and she is the end is enthroned as "Sherwood's Queen."

The cantata was given a highly pleasing performance last night. Each of the parts was sung with ability that showed the result of careful training. Tonight the performance will be repeated.

The performance was given under the direction of John M. Brown and Mrs. Lillian Dodge Haskell. The accompaniments were furnished by Minnie Tucker Thompson, pianist; Valdo E. Murphy, violinist; Marion E. Morrison, violinist, and Finley M. Gray, cornetist. Charles B. Stillwell, of the

After You Are Fifty

You can expect almost anything because your vitality is fast becoming used up and as a rule one becomes over-anxious to lay aside money enough to care for their old age, and during this nerve-breaking period, and worries, you are liable to have a nervous breakdown, and become a fit subject for kidney, liver, and heart troubles.

When you find yourself approaching or afflicted with these troubles, you can build yourself up again by taking from 10 to 20 drops in a little water of the old and reliable remedy, SEVEN BARKS. Don't wait until you are down sick, but step into your nearest drugstore and invest a small sum for a bottle of SEVEN BARKS and be prepared.

It doesn't matter whether you are twenty or fifty if you find that your digestive organs resent what you eat, your heart palpitates at the slightest exertion, your back aches after a day's work, you need a good tonic, kidney and liver regulator, this you will find in SEVEN BARKS, the old fashioned root and herb remedy that our parents and grandparents used to keep their families rugged and well.

If you want to get the greatest efficiency out of your body, enjoy and prolong your life, take SEVEN BARKS. For sale at druggists.—Adv.

Strike Breakers Arrive Under Heavy Guard—Policemen Stoned

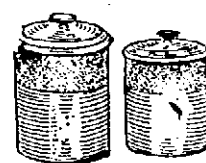

PEABODY, April 28.—While crowds of strikers besieged the A. C. Lawrence Leather company plant and that of the National Cowhide company, whose 2000 employees have been out on strike for some seven weeks, a body of 62 strike-breakers were hauled in two big automobile trucks under heavy guard yesterday from the railroad station and safely quartered inside.

The strike situation here showed no signs of abatement yesterday. The train carrying the strike-breakers reached Peabody from Boston shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The train, making its regular trip, carried besides the strike-breakers a guard of 10 state police. Word of the coming of the strike-breakers having been flashed to Peabody a special detachment of strikers met the train and brandied it at Lynn and Salem.

Allies Against Germany To
Be Discussed Tomorrow

Supreme Allied Council To
Fix Boundary Between Po-
land and Upper Silesia

PARIS, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Application of further penalties to Germany and the tracing of new boundary lines between Poland and German upper Silesia, will be discussed by the supreme allied council at London on Saturday. It was learned here today. The council will limit its deliberations to these subjects, it was said, having decided to take up only questions of urgency. The determination of the frontier between Poland and German Silesia, would be based upon reports from the plebiscite commission which supervised the voting held in upper Silesia, and recommendations from the council of ambassadors.

The United States, it is understood, will be invited to have a representative at the London meeting.

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister, speaking in the house of commons today on Germany's reparations proposals, said: "I very much regret to say that they are thoroughly unsatisfactory and I wish it had been possible for me to say that they alter the situation."

To Thank U. S.

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—It was announced by Reuters' Limited today it had learned that France had instructed Ambassador Jusserand in Washington to thank the United States government "for its assurance that the United States would not deliver the German reparations note without the approval of the allies."

Unacceptable to France

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Ambassadors of the allied powers were looked to here today for indications of the attitude of their governments toward the latest German counter-proposals on reparations. As indicated by information contained in Associated Press despatches from Paris last evening, M.

"I had Stomach Trouble for ten years, which became so bad that I got Stomach Cramps two or three times a week.

After years of terrible torture, I read about Fruit-a-lives' or Fruit Liver Tablets, and sent for a trial box.

After taking the trial box, I felt better, so kept on taking 'Fruit-a-lives' for nearly a year, and am thankful to say 'Fruit-a-lives' saved my life."

GERMAN TERMS UNSATISFACTORY

Attempt to Clarify Proposals

Results in Even Greater
Confusion

Great Britain Declares "Evasive Methods" Cannot Be Allowed to Continue

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany's attempt to clarify certain of her reparations proposals, in compliance with the request of the British foreign office yesterday, was said in official circles today, to have resulted in even greater confusion. Great Britain has asked for further explanations, and the interchanges are continuing, although they are said to be entirely informal.

The present position of Great Britain is understood to be that the proposals are still "sketchy" and very unsatisfactory. As the outgrowth of the British query of yesterday, Germany, it is stated, now suggests that the annuities extend over a period of from 50 to 75 years, or even longer, instead of the 42 years originally mentioned. This is declared in official circles to be a sample of the "evasive methods" of Germany, which cannot be allowed to continue.

Great Britain has requested information in regard to the proposed international loan which it is declared could not be floated at 4 per cent, according to the German terms.

M. Gaspar, the Belgian foreign minister, and M. Theunys, Belgian minister of finance, had a conference here this forenoon with Louis Loucheur, French minister for the devastated regions, and afterwards conferred with Sir Laming Worthington Evans, British secretary for war, and Edwin S. Montague, secretary for India.

Later the Belgian representatives were quoted by Reuters' Limited as stating "in the most emphatic manner that they had been unanimous in the decision that the latest German proposals were not even worthy of discussion."

HONORING NAPOLEON

France is now in the midst of a celebration in memory of the greatest of her soldiers, statesmen and lawgivers—Napoleon Bonaparte—who died in exile on the rocky Isle of St. Helena, May 5, 1821, a buffeted and wretched prisoner of the British government, subjected to the petty meannesses and exactions of a contemptible jailer.

It is common to think of Napoleon only as a military genius, who undertook to subject all Europe to his rule. It is a popular conception to look upon him as something of a human monster, drunk with blood and power, who sought to build up a vast empire by armed force over which he should rule as supreme dictator.

To Napoleon, history has been more kind than to some of those who were foremost among his enemies. The world is coming to see that the battles that he fought were the entering wedge that has made dynastic rule a shaky institution the world over and has placed the doctrine of the "divine right" of kings to rule in the discard.

The greatest of modern soldiers, however, was something more than a man of war. He was foremost among lawgivers as the continued existence of the Napoleonic code in European countries to the present day testifies. It was Napoleon who gave France canals, improved her harbors, built highways and drained marshes. He gave the educational system of his country a new birth. Paris is more beautiful today because of the avenues and buildings that he had erected. If his military exploits were forgotten, his figure would still loom large as one of the benefactors of France and mankind. This is not the popular conception of Napoleon, but it is coming to be realized that it is the true one.

Early next month the attention of France—republican France—is to be centered on the last day when the nation's greatest hero was an exile on the rock of St. Helena. It is a pitiful picture that is presented of the great soul, for whom the whole world was too small a place, cabined and confined under the control of a weak and nagging British officer. It is pathetic to think of him, who had once made and unmade kings and ruled over them, with not one disinterested person near him, of all the thousands who had profited from his favor, in whom he could trust. We see him putting about his garden, dreaming over again of the days of his greatness, fighting once more the battles which he had won and lost, a prey to mental disturbances, sinking at last wearily to rest, to have his small-souled jailer quarrel over the inscription that should be placed upon his coffin. That title was finally simply "Napoleon," without title or other distinguishing word, and as such he belongs to the ages.

It may well be wondered at this time what the outcome would have been if the great soldier had been able to carry out his intention to come to the United States after the battle of Waterloo. He did not come, but our sympathies cannot fail to go out at this time to the people of the republic across the sea as they recall the memory of their great leader.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

That was a startling statement made on Wednesday by Chairman McHugh of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, before the United States chamber of commerce in reference to the slump in our export business. He asserts that within a period of five months our export trade has been cut nearly in half, with the result that 655 steamers and sailing vessels were idle in the port of New York last week, while 650 steel vessels are without charter and many of the ships leaving port have cargoes of but 30 per cent. of their capacity.

The business depression has affected the shipping interests and the demoralization of business on the other side of the ocean is also felt here in the reduction of our foreign trade.

In October of 1920 our export trade amounted to $751,000,000, whereas last month's total was $354,000,000. It appears that what is needed chiefly is a demand for our manufactured products. The domestic market is inadequate and its condition at the present time is so far below normal that relief must be found in the foreign market.

That, however, involves the necessity of some arrangement by which we can exchange commodities with foreign nations in addition to the establishment of foreign credits under which trade can be entered into with nations now financially unable to pay cash for what they want.

The Foreign Trade Financing Corporation is trying to solve this problem while some people think that it means merely a matter of handing out our money to foreign nations to enable them to buy our products.

It is not exactly that, although it would have the same general effect on the countries so assisted. As an example of domestic conditions Mr. McHugh said that "in the matter of cotton alone, foreign demand and buying power have been so reduced that, with domestic consumption curtailed and the south's unsold supply estimated at more than 6,500,000 bales, there is cotton enough now to supply the actual demand for a year, even if no cotton at all were raised in the United States during 1921." For tobacco and wool, it is estimated that in American warehouses there is a two years' supply.

It is to relieve this situation and similar conditions in other lines, that the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation is endeavoring to establish a credit system to be used to support and further American foreign trade. It will require a combination of capitalistic interests to do this and that such an undertaking, in the present unsettled conditions in Europe, must be attended with considerable financial risk is a foregone conclusion.

THAT LEGISLATIVE PROBE

Those legislators of 1918 who speculated in stocks that were advanced in price through legislative action—the enactment of a bill guaranteeing dividends at the public expense—have left a record that proves beyond a doubt, that they were more anxious to make money for themselves than to serve their constituents. That is the most charitable construction that can be placed upon their action. They used their legislative functions to advance certain stocks, but previous to the final act, they went out and borrowed freely from a bank, using the money to purchase the stock, and depositing the stock as collateral for the loans.

It is alleged that for this purpose also, large loans were advanced to members of the legislature who would otherwise receive no credit—not even to the extent of a postage stamp.

Will the probing committee please find out by what secret collusion or conspiracy, men without any means or financial standing were advanced large loans, whether these opportunities to make money were arranged as an inducement to members of the legislature to vote for the Elevated Railroad bill or as rewards for having done so?

It seems that the manipulators who kept in the background, whether they were lobbyists, agents of the Boston Elevated or of the bank in question, should be brought into the foreground, and made to bear their full share of the responsibility for the shady transactions that are now being exposed in connection with the passage of the Boston Elevated bill of 1918.

If there was any illegal transaction involved, it must have had two parties in interest and hence both should be punished with equal severity. Some people think that the whole inquiry will wind up in a general whitewash, which would place upon the legislature of 1921 the odium of condoning a corrupt and scandalous abuse of the legislative function by certain members of the general court of 1918.

MEAN AUTO THIEVES

Auto thieves are with us again and they are the meanest kind of thieves as they take the cars out of the city, strip them of everything portable, and then set them on fire. The punishment of such offenders, if caught, should combine the penalty for theft with that for arson.

Auditor Tarbox tells us that Lowell has an accounting system that "is of great service to the city in promoting efficiency and economy." Perhaps he may be able to tell us where the "efficiency" and "economy" twins may be located.

Five thousand women answered the question "What great man would you rather have married?" It shows a singular lack of appreciation that not one of them answered, "My husband."

The presentation of a chair, made from the timbers of one of the first American warships, to Mr. Harding need not be taken as implying that the givers think the president should "go away back and sit down."

The members of the Middlesex Women's club cannot find a single candidate to run for president of their organization. Happy, thrice happy, should be a club thus free from "politics."

Arbitration is the principle upon which the state relies for the preservation of industrial peace. Where it is rejected, trouble usually results and in most cases the party holding out against it is the chief loser in the end.

Governor Cox says he thinks Massachusetts has done a fine job in the way in which she has attempted to look out for her street railways by legislation. Do we hear a single faint "Amen?"

The head of the Valparaiso (Ind.) university says that his institution is a hotbed of "Bolshevism." There is an educational establishment into which evidently education needs to be introduced.

Men who are willing to submit the rate of wages and working conditions to arbitration by an unbiased tribunal, cannot be said to be unreasonable or arbitrary.

"The secretary of state in this administration writes the state papers to which his name is signed," comments the Boston Globe. An expert typewriter, eh, or does he use a pen?

We are interested to know if the course of study pursued by the class in "mothercraft" recently graduated in Boston, included the production of pies such as mother used to make.

We are willing to concede that Boston has set Lowell a worthy example in planning to name one of its public squares after one of its world war heroines—an army nurse.

Strawberries are here and—u-u-r-r-g—having tasted some of them, we shall be disappointed if we do not hear next of another sugar shortage.

Parking autos in Prescott street blocks traffic, even though in certain cases it is permissible under the existing rules.

The public wants lower street railway fares, but not at the price of a refusal of the public trustees to arbitrate their difference with their employees.

Mr. Harding says that he is not able to "grasp" Professor Einstein's idea of relativity. It is not essential to the success of his administration.

The members of the United States chamber of commerce are to discuss the question, "What is normal overhead?" Blue sky—isn't it?

There is a reason why people of live-up-to-date Lowell look upon Boston as a joke. The Hub has just placed its first policemen on duty.

The best place to spend saved daylight—out-of-doors.

Paradoxical—one of the surest ways of slipping down is to slip-up.

SEEN AND HEARD

Strange as it may seem, bad men are sometimes more welcome at home than good ones.

Benton H. Thomas of New Orleans is ready to go before the Louisiana constitutional assembly if necessary to secure the passage of a bill making it lawful and compulsory for all towns of more than 2000 inhabitants to construct and equip municipal stations, to encourage and facilitate the natural and legitimate aspirations of young people in the direction of marriage.

The Family Skitron
"What's the matter, old man?" asked Driver, as he met a friend. "Are you feeling seedy?" "Not, not exactly that," replied the friend, "but I'll admit I've been worried of late. You remember I hired a man to trace my pedigree?" "Yes," replied Driver, "What's the trouble? Hasn't he been successful?" "Successful? Just say he had," said the friend, "I'm having to pay him hush-money."

A Good Comeback
There had been a certain amount of breeziness in the discussion, which centered around the relative virtues and accomplishments of the two sexes. "You men," said the advanced young woman, "think a great deal of yourselves because there is a shortage of your kind. Personally, I should not mind in the least living in a world where the men and the girls were separated by an ocean."

The daring bachelor smiled at her. "I dare say you are right," he agreed. "Still, in the event you mention, I'm certain there would be a large number of women drowned."

She hurried home
Mrs. Johnson had gone away from home, leaving Mr. Johnson lamenting. On arriving at her destination she missed her car, and sent a postcard to her servant asking the girl to let her know if she found anything on the dining room floor when sweeping it that morning.

The servant duly replied: "Dear Madam—You ask me to let you know if I found anything when sweeping the dining room floor this morning. I beg to report that I found 30 matches, 3 corks and a rack of cards."

Mrs. Johnson returned by the next train.

Success
It's doing the job the best you can and being just to your fellow-men. It's making money, but holding friends and staying true to your aims and ends.

It's figuring how and learning why. And looking forward and thinking high. And dreaming a little and doing much. It's keeping always in check, rich with what is done in word and deed. It's being thorough, yet making speed. It's facing honestly the field of chance. While making your work a brave romance.

It's going onward despite defeat. And fighting staunchly, but keeping sweet. It's being clean and it's playing fair. It's laughing lightly at Dame Despair. It's looking up at the stars above. And drinking deeply of life and love. It's struggling on till the will to win. But taking loss with a cheerful grin. It's sharing sorrow, and work, and mirth. And making better this dear old earth. It's serving, striving through strain and stress. It's doing your utmost—that's success.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The flying of an airplane over Lowell recalls the days when balloon ascensions were popular features at county fairs and Fourth of July celebrations. I recall one, and only one, trip in a balloon.

The nation's birthday, in the center of a roped-off area was the big gas bag and its basket, and outside the ropes was a curious crowd of several thousand people. We climbed into the basket and the "professor," who was the skipper and owner of the air craft and had made journeys among the clouds without mishap, gave the word for the men who had been hanging on to the basket to "let go." They did and we gave a very weak little hop from the ground and then settled back again. Out went a couple of bags of sand over the side. We began to soar in a mild way. Then we hit something. It was the side of an apartment house. Out went another bag of sand and window blinds and awning shades went crashing down from the side of the house as we went slowly skyward. We did not get so very far toward the blue etheral, however. As soon as we were above the shelter of the apartment house the wind hit the big air craft and it had been mischievous and really it began to show what it could really do in the way of cutting-up now.

I have ridden over First street. Such an incident is one to be remembered, but it really is not in the class with my ride in the air. We bumped on French roofs; we went hop, skip and jump over flat roofs; we were caught and nearly dumped out on naked roofs; we were tossed about like tin cans and we collided with flag-poles, family washings on the roofs and lightning rods. It was all done in a hurry, too, for the wind began to get in its work as soon as we were above the buildings. There was no more sand aboard, so we could not hope to go higher. The professor for going down was not promising. After a journey of about a mile we came to a large open field. The "professor" pulled a rope that led somewhere up in the air. We came down with a thump that had the real old-fashioned punch to it, and crawled somehow from beneath the wreck of the gas bag.

While I was waiting for the arrival of the aeroplane at Chimesford Tuesday, I had the pleasure of seeing "Little Prince" Lowell's noted equine marvel, taking his first workout on the local track. Oscar Dewel held the ribbons and "Little Prince" jogged the first mile in three minutes. Without apparent exertion his breath was in his throat. "Little Prince" stopped it as though indulging in favorite pastime. The win loss didn't matter rise and fall—they actually twinkled. Of course, immediately after the aristocrat of horsemanship had finished his little initiatory jaunt of the season, he was "tanked" by his master and the assistant. Spun out and curried, and otherwise conditioned in a manner for which an amateur in racing terms can find no words, the graceful brown horse was finally blanketed and hooded and taken for a nice, leisurely stroll. Wonder how many humans get as careful treatment as that horse. But then, how many humans can do a mile in a trifle over two minutes, as "Little Prince" has done?

AT ALL SOULS' CHURCH
The entertainment given last evening at All Souls' church by the Girl Scouts was attended by over 100 people and all enthusiastically enjoyed the program, which included musical and literary numbers. Those who took part are as follows: Scouts Thelma Dyer, Frances Dyer, Doris Dyer, Bernice Moulton, Helen Pearson, Esther Bernston, Norma Nelson, Alice Garrison, Alberta Colby, Lillian Hedrick, Elizabeth Dyer, Margaret Amiot, Isabelle Amiot. The concert was assisted by Miss Ruth Harmon, Harriet Qua, Helen Spaulding, Catherine Clapp and Charlotte Howard.

TIED OF BEING ROBBED.

BRITAIN MOVES FOR PEACE

Opposition at Home to Present Policy Forces Lloyd George to Act

Government Seeking to Get Troublesome Ulster Leader Out of Way

(From the New York World.)

LONDON, April 24.—The Earl of Derby's mission to Ireland is seemingly the first real effort to be made by Premier Lloyd George to promote an Irish settlement. All previous alleged peace moves have been merely strategic operations intended to maneuver the Sinn Féin into disruption and defeat.

But the increasing gravity of Great Britain's situation, both externally and internally, and the acknowledged failure of Dublin castle, despite its limitless powers and immunities, to destroy the Sinn Féin movement, together with the condemnation of the Irish administration by the heads of all British Protestant communities, has evidently impressed the premier with the necessity of at last trying to get the Irish problem on its way to a settlement.

The projected summoning of the two Irish parliaments, with the certainty that the southern parliament will exist exclusively of Sinn Féiners who will refuse to function, is forcing the cabinet to fulfill its threat of placing southern Ireland under a crown colony government. This is likely to be even less successful than the present system and also makes urgent the necessity of trying for peace.

Sir Edward Carson, who has hitherto vetoed any concession toward the existing unworkable act, is said to be about to take appointment as lord of appeal, which will remove him from the house of commons, where he holds the whip hand over the premier, and would give him a seat in the house of lords, where his power for evil would be less potent. Sir Edward must be alive to the fact that the southern Ireland boycott is crippling Ulster and Belfast business men, who are being made to realize that their independence and desire for southern Ireland were dangerous delusions for which they are now paying a ruinous price.

If a change of heart were admitted by the Ulster orange ascendancy and a full measure of dominion home rule proposed by the government for southern Ireland, then a genuine settlement might be attained. The house of lords would accept such a solution if Ulster did not object. Those who advocate this proposal assert the British government should of course undertake the restoration of areas devastated by crown forces, as under any real scheme.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear they would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement.

A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did." —Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3155 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. No woman should allow herself to get into such a condition because such troubles may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American women to health.

of settlement American generosity could hardly be expected to provide for the restoration as it proposes to do by its present schemes of relief.

Lord Derby is as good an emissary as could be chosen from among the Tories, especially as he is acquainted with the strength of the Irish vote in his own county of Lancashire, where hundreds of thousands of Irishmen formerly supporters of the constitutional movement in Ireland have been driven into sympathy with the Sinn Féin by the present policy of Premier Lloyd George and his protégé, Sir Hamar Greenwood. The labor party is making a tremendous effort to sweep Lancashire at the next election and with the support of the Irish vote would have a good chance of succeeding, but if Lord Derby proved to be a harbinger of peace and settlement in Ireland his candidates might hope for a share of the Irish suffrages.

DISAPPEARANCE OF SPOKEN DRAMA

CHICAGO, April 25.—Remedy for the disappearance of the spoken drama from a great many small cities, due to a combination of motion pictures, high railroad fares and general uncertainty of the theatrical business outlook, may be found in a few large cities. It will be sought at the 11th annual convention of the Drama League of America opening here today.

A report on the actual condition of the "one night stand" made from a survey of the country, will be given to the convention. Walter Pritchard Eaton, a director of the league, said: "Travelling companies as we used to know them, have practically been done away with."

"A manager has been called in to tell his side of the case, while how the small town looks at it will be related by Harold L. Belga of Grinnell, Ia."

"By its program this year the Drama League frankly acknowledges the need of amateur effort everywhere if the spoken drama is to survive beyond the confines of the large cities. At its convention it is going to bring all the help and encouragement it can to all those who are working for this end."

"Many phases of amateur effort, including high school drama, religious drama and little theatre circuits planned to help small local theatres exchange plays and productions, will be discussed. Perhaps the most important of all will be reports on what has been done and can be done to bring the spoken drama to the rural regions."

"How much the theatre has changed in the past decade and how the interests of the Drama League are changing with it to meet new conditions, are illustrated vividly in the program of this year's convention. When the league was organized, its object was to 'educate audiences' to support the best plays in the theatre and thus to encourage the tours of these plays through the country."

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY
At the annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Paige Street Baptist church held recently the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Walter Chase, president; Mrs. Carrie Upham, vice president; Mrs. Lizzie Hoyer, secretary; treasurer. Following the business session an entertainment program was carried out and supper was served.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freestone" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn's hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with your fingers. Truly! 18th Child Born to Ironwood Couple IRONWOOD, Mich., April 28.—When a physician went to a home yesterday in response to a call he found John Mattson pondering over a list of names. Mattson was looking for a name for the 18th baby in the family, a girl. Fifteen of the children are living. The mother is 44 and the father 46.

Active Middle Age May Beat Youth

Medical Science proves blood rich in iron to be a secret of great strength, energy and endurance

You may be a better man at 50 than the husky strapping of 25 if you take care of yourself and KEEP YOUR BLOOD FILLED WITH IRON.

In an account of a severe mountain climbing test, a New York newspaper states that 20 per cent of those who accomplished the feat were 44 years and over.

Prize-fighters, wrestlers and athletes have learned the value of plenty of iron in their training as such a diet helps supply their blood with iron.

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

Nature put plenty of iron in the husks of grains and the skin and peels of vegetables and fruits to enrich your blood, but modern methods of cooking throw all these things away—hence the alarming increase in recent years in Anemia—iron starvation of the blood.

Thousands of people have surprisingly increased their strength, energy and endurance in two weeks' time by this simple experiment. But in making this test be sure that the iron you take is organic iron and not metallic iron or mineral iron which people usually take. Organic iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Organic iron may be had from your druggist under the name of NUXATED IRON.

Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. At all drug stores in tablet form only.—Adv.

DO YOU KNOW THE "KNACK" OF SHAKING HANDS?

Know how to shake hands? Suppose 1600 people faced you, could you give them all a good, firm grip and still be able to sign your name or lift your shaking arm? Answer: you could not—unless you know the "knack" of wholesale handshaking. The president has to know it. Otherwise his hand and arm would be sore half the time. Here, for example, is a line of 1600 delegates to the D.A.B. convention, waiting to shake President Harding's hand.

His weekly routine includes shaking hundreds, often thousands of hands. The "knack" is illustrated in the close-up picture. Beat the other party to the grip. And, don't grip the offering hand too far back.

LOWELL MAN BOUGHT CINOT BECAUSE HE KNEW PEOPLE WHO WERE HELPED BY IT

Mr. James Brown of 318 Bridge Street, Lowell, Mass., and a Well Known Printer, Says a Few Good Words About the Tonic CINOT That is Convincing

All of us like to hear good things and few of us like to hear unpleasant news and CINOT is the one thing in Lowell today that is spreading glad tidings throughout New England. He says:

"I suffered from a disordered stomach with very little food and no appetite and felt in need of a tonic that would brace me up and make me feel as I should. "CINOT was recommended to me and I have taken two bottles and the results have been more than I looked for."

It has done away with my dizzy spells and my stomach trouble has left me and I feel better than I have in years.

"I want other people to know what a wonderful Tonic this is and am glad to recommend it to the public."

CINOT IS BEING DEMONSTRATED IN LOWELL BY AN EXPERT AT DOWS DRUG STORE, MERRIMACK SQUARE, AND IS FOR SALE BY ALL GOOD DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents.

OPERA HOUSE

"That Girl Patsy," a comedy drama by the Lowell Players at the Opera House, is unquestionably one of the most amusing bits of stage offering that the local stock repertoire has given us in months. Miss Marguerite Fields is seen in her best comedy role, while the other members of the cast were never better and one of the greatest police plays ever founded on fact. It will afford Milton Byron one of his biggest opportunities of the season.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Rich slices of comedy are surely purveyed by Bobby Bernard at the R. F. Keith theatre, this week. "A Regular Guy" is the comedy in which this comedian, who has been supported by a company which is unusually competent. It is a sketch dealing with the traveling salesman, and it shows him from an angle slightly different than we are accustomed to get. Brown and O'Donnell, who turn out fun of many kinds, are constantly on the go, while the comedy garden is not only good to listen to, but a healing sight for tired eyes. One of the very best of impersonators is Claudia Coleman, who, in her "Feminine Types," hits the bull's eye many times. The remainder of the bill is good, including Rooney & Clinton in "After Dark," Will & Hoagy, two athletic marvels, and Lawton, a phenomenal juggler.

THE STRAND

The many thousands who have read Louis Tracy's popular novel of love and mystery, "The Girl in the Red Dress," starring George Walsh in the principal role, will find ample opportunity to see and enjoy all of the vigor and action characteristic of most of the city's theater.

TWO LOWELL WOMEN SEEKING DIVORCES

Alleging that she was deserted by her husband July 3, 1910, Mrs. Mary Whonley of Lowell has filed a bill for divorce in the East Cambridge court against Henry Whonley of New York city. The couple were married in Portsmouth, N.H., September 4, 1903, and have since resided in this city. The custody of three children is asked for by their mother.

Mrs. Philomena M. Abbatangelo of Lowell has also filed a divorce libel against Nicola Abbatangelo on the ground of desertion. They were married in Italy, April 21, 1905. Mr. Abbatangelo is in Italy.

Lynn Woman's Amazing Experience

"Since taking Glandex Compound, the new animal gland tonic, my wife looks, acts, and feels 30 years younger, having gained 23 pounds in 33 days," reports Mrs. A. WASHINGTON, April 28.—Governor Harding of the federal reserve board announced today that he would begin next week a personal survey of the farm credit situation in the middle west and southwest.

Application of New Penalties

Continued
The French government will assume toward the German plan has not been indicated. Their official announcements, however, are expected to be not long delayed in expected to inform Secretary Hughes' known delay that the proposals are unchanged. It is to be informed of the attitude taken to France. Similar information was received from the German proposals from Brussels, but the position of the American government in the matter is understood to have been determined at Tuesday's cabinet meeting so that the absence of President Harding to review the Atlantic fleet at Hampton Roads will not interfere with prompt action, unless some unforeseen contingency should arise.

France Rejects Offer

PARIS, April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The German counter proposals on reparations as transmitted to President Harding at Washington are absolutely unacceptable, and the French ambassador to the United States, M. Jusserand, has been notified to this effect.

The proposals are characterized by government officials as "a step backward," and are declared to give no promise of a satisfactory settlement. All eyes are now turned on Washington, where the counter-proposals are under advisement, but no new fact has developed here up to midnight to change the situation as it concerns the attitude of France.

The general feeling is that occupation of the Ruhr is unavoidable but it is believed in some circles barely possible that in some way the Berlin government may be made to understand through Washington the seriousness of the situation and the essential fact that no proposal can be considered by the French government unless based on the Paris conditions.

It is pointed out in official circles that the Germans in their proposals are precise in their demands and extremely vague in their offers and that what they propose would yield to France only one-third of the French reparations claims and that only conditionally.

The Germans, on the other hand, demand: First, release of all pledges held by the allies in the way of occupation or upon German property abroad; second, that upper Silesia shall remain German territory; third, release from all the cost of the military occupation of the Rhineland, as well as the evacuation of other German territory.

This amounts, according to the French view, to giving up all guarantees without any alternative security or definite assurance even that the promised amount will be paid.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT TONIGHT'S BOUTS

Plans have been made by the Crescent A.A. officials to handle a large crowd tonight for a record turnout is expected to be on hand to witness the second local engagement of Woonsocket Joe Gibbs and Young Avila. Surely if the bout is anything like their previous encounter it will be worthy of a packed house.

After their last thrilling bout many fans who were not on hand expressed regret and besieged the management with requests to rematch the team. A great many others who were in on the boxing treat averred that they would like nothing better than to see the pair have it at again. Hence the management went out and signed up an end for these reasons arrangements have been made to accommodate a banner attendance.

There is also much interest in the other bouts on the card. There will be two fights, with all local boys the participants. Happy Conley and Young Avila, with exchange wallops in on and Brice Claven and Jimmy Demas are scheduled to perform in the present. The first bout will go on at 8.30 o'clock.

NEW YORK BROKER SUES TEX RICHARD

NEW YORK, April 28.—"Tex" Richard yesterday made defendant in a suit filed by Frank C. Armstrong, who alleges he has been associated with Richard in a business way, and who demands an accounting of several enterprises in which he maintains he had a share. The amount of Armstrong's claim is not set forth.

Mr. Richard last January declared he had no dealings with Armstrong other than that the latter had interested him in the Richard Texas Oil Co. He said Armstrong had made considerable money on the deal, and since then he had endeavored to interest himself in the various enterprises which Richard has promoted.

Mr. Richard said, is a broker, dealing largely in oil stocks. "He has no claim against me," said Richard.

Among the deals in which Armstrong claims he was connected with the promoter are the Johnson-Jeffries fight in 1910, the Richard Texas Oil Co., the leasing of the Madison Square garden, the William-Moran boxing match, and the South American land, cattle, packing and concessions enterprise between June, 1910, and July, 1920, he was associated with Richard and declares he had consulted with and aided Richard in many of his business ventures. In many of the Madison Square garden enterprise, the complaint asserts Armstrong was instrumental in securing the lease for the arena, and should be divided equally. Later, however, the complaint says, it was decided that as Richard was the sole charge of the management, he should receive 10 per cent of the profits as a salary and the remaining 90 per cent should be divided.

OFFERS CUP FOR TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Ernest L. Kimball, who a few years ago had one of the best semi-professional ball teams in Lowell, is still an ardent supporter of the game and ever ready to assist in the promotion of the sport. Hearing yesterday of a move to ask some local business man to put up a cup as a prize for the pennant-winning team, he immediately got in touch with Ralph Canney of the South End and announced that he would gladly donate a cup and further informed Mr. Canney that he would be pleased to have a committee of the league accompany him and pick out the trophy and the matter will be brought to the attention of the league officials at the next meeting.

NASHUA WHITEWASHED

Lowell High School Team Gets Away With 8 to 0 Victory

Fred Ordway had things pretty much his own way at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon when Lowell high school lined up against Nashua high and applied the kalsomine effectively and vigorously, bringing an 8 to 0 victory to the Kik street school. Fred wasn't in the best of health; in fact Coach Donahue several times suggested that he give way to another pitcher for two hours, but he came within an inch of pitching a no-hit, no-run game. Nashua's first batter got a hit the first time up but thereafter the visitors' hitless swing in vain.

Ordway demonstrated his class as a pitcher effectively and decisively in yesterday's game. One can't detract from his good work even by saying that he was up against a weak team because the New Hampshire outfit presented a strong, husky looking aggregation of players that would undoubtedly do damage to an ordinary high school twirler.

The local slaban used his head as effectively as his arms in vanquishing the opposing nine. He pitched carefully in a puzzling fashion and never did he allow the visitors to give the slightest semblance of being dangerous.

The first two innings produced nothing of moment but in the third Lowell broke the ice with three tallies. The scoring was done with two men down, but Sullivan hit a single to left and poor throw to first and before the ball had reached third, Gleason hit to left for two runs, bringing in the first run made first on an error by McKinnon the Nashua backstop, Gleason going to third. Willard hit a fly to right but DeGraaf dropped it and two more runs came in. In the sixth the Nashua batters seemed to lose all control and the Lowell pitchers were reaping the harvest. Two more in the seventh ended the scoring.

Nashua's defensive is open to considerable comment and it was evident yesterday that the team of the game have not yet been drilled into all the plays.

Lowell not only kept the visitors to one hit, but issued no passes, and struck out 11 men. Ray Morgan played a good game behind the bat. B. McDams took almost everything coming his way at first and Willard hit short showed plenty of life, filling the cone position that had worried Coach Donahue at the beginning of the season. The score:

Great interest was manifested in the practice of the University of Redlands, Cal. team which arrived yesterday because of the remarkable showing made by their one mile relay team last Saturday.

PERRY TO MEET SHEVLIN

Jack Perry of Pittsburgh and Eddie Shevlín of Roxbury will clash in Boston Friday night. Perry is a rushing, two-handed fighter of the Stanley Ketchel type. When he met Jack Ketchel several months ago, he dropped the world's welterweight champion to the mat with a bare knock.

CHICK GANDIL RELEASED

Promises to Voluntarily Appear at Chicago and Give Necessary Bond

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 28.—Arnold (Chick) Gandil, former White Sox player arrested here Tuesday night, to answer charges of participation in the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series, was released upon his own recognizance yesterday. The police said they acted upon instructions from Chicago.

Arrested Before Order Came
CHICAGO, April 28.—Chick Gandil, arrested in Los Angeles in connection with the baseball scandal, was permitted to go free on his own recognizance because of assurances he had given state officials here that he voluntarily would come to Chicago and furnish bond pending his trial. It was said at the state attorney's office.

Gandil recently sent word that he would come here to surrender but a warrant had been issued for him and was served before the ball player could reach this city. It was said.

Cicotte Also to Appear
DETROIT, April 28.—Vladie Cicotte, former Chicago American league pitcher, named in connection with the baseball scandal, will appear voluntarily in Chicago within a day or two in the case. Announcement to this effect was made here yesterday by Daniel P. Cassidy, attorney for Cicotte.

Seek Immediate Trial
CHICAGO, April 28.—Attorneys for five of the indicted White Sox players—"Buck" Weaver, Oscar "Flap" Felsch, Claude Williams, Fred McMullen and "Swee" Fisher—today sought a demand for an immediate trial for the indicted men. Michael Hogan, one of the attorneys representing the ball players, said that under the Illinois law this would mean that the men would have to be tried in July or the indictments against them would be automatically dismissed.

At the opening ball game in Cleveland, Tris Speaker, manager of the champion Indians, was presented with an Airplane puppy, a brother of "Laddie," the White House dog. The little fellow was small enough to be presented in a loving cup. Speaker already has two dogs, both hunting hounds, but the new arrival is welcome as Tris is very fond of dogs.

SAYS HIGH COAL PRICES DUE TO LABOR COSTS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 27.—American coal operators cannot offer permanent relief in the way of reduced prices unless the United Mine Workers of America agree to a modification of their present wage contract, T. H. Watkins, president of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Co., declared in an address today before the United States chamber of commerce.

Responsibility for reduction in coal prices now rests with the union, he said, as the operators have "generally reduced their prices to very narrow margins, in many cases below the cost of production."

"Operators having contracts cannot honorably refuse to carry them out," said Mr. Watkins, "but they can ask for discussion and a modification of the contract and are doing it, possibly with very little hope of success."

The coal official said his "particular criticism of organized labor today is that it had fallen into the hands of radicals."

SHARON, Pa., April 27.—Notices posted today at the Farrell Works of the American Steel and Tin Plate Co. call for a resumption of operations at six plate mills and 16 hot mills. The mills will reopen Sunday night, giving employment to 1500 men.

Through the open door I noticed two tufted timonee flying about the porch. My curiosity was aroused. I hid myself in the cellarway, and soon was rewarded.

The cattle lay asleep and the timonee flew down on him and tugged at his hair. It came out easily, and away flew the birds to the nest they were building. It must have been at quite a distance, for they were gone some minutes before their return. While I watched, they came back several times for more hair, and the dog didn't seem to mind.

It was the best example of the lack of fear in timonee that I have ever seen. They are great insect destroyers, and it is well to coax them about the house where one may have the benefit of their music and their work.

Adventures of The Twins

"MR. CAMERON'S REASON"

"WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO GO BACK TO THE CIRCUS?" SAID FLIPPETY-FLAP.

Yes, the pile of old rags was Caliph Camel himself. You never saw anything so tattered and torn and worn-out in all your life, at least Nancy and Nick were quite convinced that they never had, and Flippety-Flap said that even the "Man-All-Tattered-and-Torn" who married the "Maiden-All-Fortune" couldn't hold a candle to him.

"What's the pig?" repeated Caliph, stretching his neck and yawning, and blinking sleepily. He really had as much neck as Gyp the giraffe, the twins thought, only instead of sticking straight up like an I, it curved down like a hammock into a U, which made it seem shorter.

"The pig," answered Flippety-Flap, "is short for a disease called gray with the neck." Some folks call it sunstroke. But I'll be begging your pardon, sir, I thought you were under some covers. I didn't know that the pile of rags was you."

"Thank you," said Caliph Camel, stiffly. "I don't suppose I look like a fashion magazine exactly, but I don't care a fig about that. There's no one here to see me but the buzzards and a snake or two."

The visitors shuddered. "Pleasant company you have," said Flippety-Flap. "Wouldn't you like to go back to the circus?"

"No, thank you," answered the camel abruptly.

"Why no no whys," retorted Caliph, "but he added, 'I suppose I'd better tell you why. They made me too comfortable, and if there is anything in creation that a camel cannot endure, it is to be too comfortable. A camel is never so comfortable as when he is uncomfortable.'"

"You've got the pig, just as I feared," he declared when he got to his feet. "The heat has gone to your head."

STUDENTS HOLD ANNUAL DANCING PARTY

Students of Wood's Business College held their annual dancing party last evening in Associate hall with a large number of students and graduates in attendance. Last evening's affair marked the seventh annual event of the kind and was most successful in every respect.

Lattice work and greenery partially concealed the orchestra. The national colors were in evidence here and there and the scene as a whole was most attractive.

Guests of the evening were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson and Elliot Wood, principal of the school. Many delightful routines were among the pleasant features of the evening.

The officers of the party were: General manager, Alice Boyle; assistant general manager, John Stack; secretary, Margaret Murphy; treasurer, Mary Boyle; floor director, Anna Mahoney; assistant floor director, Anna O'Brien; chief aid, Mary Murray; aids, students of the college.

FOR ILLEGAL KEEPING

Camerio Bologrie Fined $100

Sold Bottle of Wine to Police Officers

Complaints that young girls have been accustomed to go into the house of Camerio Bologrie, of Crosby street, and partake of home-made wine, brought the defendant, who was fined $100 for illegal keeping, a warning from Judge Enright to the effect that another offense will mean a jail sentence. Police officers testified to the purchase of a bottle of wine for 50 cents. When analyzed by state chemists, it was shown that the beverage contained five per cent of alcohol, or well over the legal amount of one-half of one per cent. A search of Bologrie's abode revealed more wine, as well as various accessories usually associated with an illicit traffic in stimulant.

The Drunken Auto Driver

tomobiles on the road at the present time than there were at the same time last year, the conditions have improved much, so far as accidents are concerned. This improvement, doubtless, results from the new order making it necessary to examine every applicant before an operator's license is issued. There are, however, three great problems yet to be solved before the highways can be considered safe. The first of these is speed. That is the principal cause of accidents. The speedster must be taken from the road, and this can be done only by continued vigilance on the part of the police authorities and the registrar. A penalty in particular is necessary, and that is a motor cycle patrol.

The second menace which must be eliminated is the high-crazed maniac who is running amuck throughout the state. Apparently we have got beyond the drunken operator. We now have to deal with the man who is drinking Volstead cocktails. He sometimes takes one drink and sometimes more, and then loses all sense of obligation to the public. When he is convicted his license is taken away, and under a new order of this department the registration and number plates of his car are also taken from him, but he will not stop him. The remedy, in my opinion, lies with the courts. Any man who can afford to buy hooch can pay a fine of $25 or $50. The only way to stop men from operating automobiles after drinking is for the courts throughout the commonwealth to impose jail sentences upon all drivers convicted of this offense, and for the district attorneys to keep their hands off and try the cases out of their merits before a jury.

The third question is one of more human interest. How can we stop the slaughter of children? As a rule, according to an analysis of cases made by this department, the child is careless, and it would seem that the only solution is through education. Every parent and teacher should be constantly impressing upon the children the dangers of the highway. When we consider that 180 children were killed and about 2400 injured on the highways of Massachusetts during the year 1920, it must be apparent to all that some action must be taken to prevent these tragedies.

House of Correction

previously, escaped with a $50 fine. Chmielniski's attorney pointed out that the police arrested Hebert April 16, after he struck a man, and charged him with drunkenness and with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. When the case came before the court this morning, the charge preferred was that of driving in a manner calculated to endanger the public safety. "I am not responsible for what the police do, or whether they change complaints," Judge Enright's statement, who added that his function was to render decisions on the cases as presented. He advised Deputy Downey, however, that when police officers have not sufficient evidence to sustain a charge in the first place, they should not prefer such charges.

Police officers testified in the case of Chmielniski that about 5:30 p. m. April 23, he was operating a Ford runabout and hit a traffic post on Gorham street. He admitted having partaken of liquid refreshment, but denied that he was intoxicated. The officers, however, both agreed that he staggered when they took him from the car to the police station. His counsel urged the misty character of the weather on that night, as the reason for his accident with the traffic post. However, on the driving while intoxicated charge he drew one month in the house of correction, and on a drunkenness charge he was fined $5. He appealed both findings, and was held for the superior court.

The case of Charles Hebert came up for the third time today. April 25 it was continued. It is stated that when he struck the one-man car on Merrimack street another man who was with him as a passenger was injured. He had two counts preferred against him, one of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and the other a straight drunkenness charge. Today on the drunkenness charge he was recorded as fined, while a new charge, that of reckless driving, had been added. It was on this last and new count that he was fined $50. Counsel for Chmielniski based his plea for "equal consideration" for his client upon these facts, which, however, Judge Enright pointed out were within the jurisdiction of the police.

he gave the name of Shapiro as one of the men who made the sale to him. Today on the witness stand he rehearsed the details of the transaction, which involved one Harry Greenberg, now in prison, as well as the defendant. Friedman says he saw Shapiro receive $10 of the money he paid Greenberg.

Shapiro's contention was to the effect that he was acting merely as an agent for Greenberg, and that when he participated in the phony trade, he was not conscious of the fact that the cans were not perfectly correct. The testimony of Jake Bernstein, however, in the effect that Shapiro and Greenberg jointly sought to sell him liquor, was damaging to the defense. As the defendant's father, who is his bondsman, was not present today, the case was continued tomorrow to permit of Shapiro being called.

Carnival a Success
The carnival which is being held all this week at the Casino in aid of the drive is proving a big success and the special attractions provided each evening are drawing large crowds from all parts of the city. This evening the usual cabaret, dancing and general entertainment features, together with a series of novel specialties, will be carried out.

Peter J. McKenna, chairman of the committee in charge of the carnival, announced today that arrangements had been made to have a children's day next Saturday afternoon. An excellent program of entertainment has been arranged to appeal particularly to youngsters and the admission price has been reduced to ten cents so that no child will be barred from attending because of financial reasons. The carnival will open at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

The usual evening performances will be held tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Tag Day Saturday
The League of Catholic Women has completed arrangements for the big tag day which it is to conduct for the benefit of the drive next Saturday. Between 500 and 600 young women will go into the streets of the city and surrounding towns to sell buttons at whatever price individuals wish to pay for them. If the day is not fair, the event will be held a week later.

The drive for the most part will center in the downtown section, although some of the more congested residential districts will also be visited. Button sellers will work in pairs throughout the day and will be relieved at intervals and an effort will be made to have everybody in Lowell wearing a button before the day is over. The campaign will begin early in the morning and continue well into the evening. Captains and lieutenants in the various parishes have been assigned under the direction of Miss Alice T. Lee, president, and Mrs. John T. Denchue, who form the committee in charge of the affair.

Headquarters of the day will be in the league office, Harrington building, Central street, where all boxes will be turned in and later the money will be deposited in a local bank. Automobiles will carry workers to the outlying districts and the committee in charge asks those who have machines to spare on that day to get in touch with the league office at once. The assignment of captains is as follows: St. Michael's, Miss Annie Duffy; Immaculate Conception, Mrs. John Billingsley and Mrs. John McSorley; St. Peter's, Mrs. Jennie Rediker; St. Patrick's, Miss Alice McCarthy; St. Margaret's, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey; Sacred Heart, Miss Mary Wood; St. Columba's, Miss Grace Delany; Collinsville, Miss Mary Burke; North Chelmsford, Mrs. John Quigley; West Chelmsford, Mrs. Monahan; Granville, Mrs. Wall, and North Billerica, Miss Anna Higgins.

Meeting Tomorrow Evening
The general committee in charge of the drive will meet in Elks hall tomorrow evening and at that time final plans for putting the campaign over the top will be discussed. It will be well into next week before an accurate idea of the amount of money raised in Lowell can be obtained. The receipts from the Casino carnival and the button day Saturday are expected to swell the total considerably and until the receipts from both these enterprises are tabulated, Lowell's work in the drive will not be definitely known. If Lowell is shown not to have made her quota next week, it is probable that authorization will be asked from the state committee in Boston to continue the drive.

Invited to Dinner
Fred H. Bourke, county supervisor of the drive in northern Middlesex county, has received a letter from Jas. J. Phelan, state chairman of the committee on Irish relief, notifying him of a dinner to be held at the Hotel Commodore in New York May 16 at which 500 delegates will be seated. The dinner is planned to be a grand affair and arrangements have been made to send a representative from the Lowell district. The matter will come up at tomorrow's meeting. The letter in part follows:

Dear Sir—Capt. J. P. Lucey, national director of our American Committee for Irish Relief, has asked me to invite you to the national council of our organization. It is arranging for a monster dinner to be held at Hotel Commodore, New York, May 16. It is a grand affair and it is proposed to make this a national affair and from present indications it will be the biggest feature of our entire campaign.

The primary object of the dinner is to give impetus to the raising of the Irish relief fund, which up to the present time has not equalled the amount set as the goal by our organization. It is planned to have 1000 guests at $500 per plate, the purpose of the event being to raise in this manner half a million dollars. The dinner will be the best of the best citizenship in the country and the complete story of Irish suffering will be told by prominent people from all over the world. The formation of our American Committee will be told in detail. The national committee will describe the methods and means by which the actual distribution will be undertaken in Ireland and the representatives at this dinner will be able to report to their co-workers how every dollar will be spent. Speakers of national prominence will address the gathering.

It is realized that it will not be easy to get a large number of people to contribute $500 each for a dinner of this kind. Therefore, our executive committee has voted to transmit an announcement in this affair to all our country, district and local chairmen. In the state with the request that they take the matter under immediate consideration and see what means can be adopted to send a representative from their locality to this affair.

The announcement by Chairman Fisher followed separate conferences with each side. The joint conferences, he said, would begin as soon as representatives of the two parties would agree on the time.

The program of the conferences was indicated by Mr. Fisher as resting on three propositions: First, the willingness of each side to submit to arbitration; second, what issues shall be submitted; third, whether the state board or some other body shall be the arbiters.

Preparations by the trustees to operate the road in the event of a strike continued today. Three hundred men for use in powerhouses

QUEST GOVERNOR TO IMPEL ARBITRATION

N. April 28.—Bitter criticism of the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, attitude towards the employees, present controversy the speeches at last meeting in Tremont temple about 1500 sympathetic women trade unionists came from suburban cities and towns served by the Bay State system.

George F. Keegan, chairman of the joint conference board of the 15 Car-men's unions of the company's employees, called the meeting to order and explained its purpose and the grievance of the men against the trustees. Patrick J. O'Brien, vice-president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, was permanent chairman, and with James H. Vaher, counsel for the employees, Frank H. McCarthy, New England organizer for the A. F. of L., and President Thomas F. Shine of the Boston Car-men's union evoked tremendous applause by demanding arbitration of the difficulty between the trustees and the employees.

Resolutions offered by a representative of the Boston Car-men's union were unanimously adopted requesting the governor to compel the trustees to submit their differences with their employees to fair, just and equitable arbitration. James H. Vaher reviewed the relations between the trustees and the employees since they were appointed and the Eastern Massachusetts employees. "There public trustees have seemed to think they could divert the attention of the employees and the public as well as from themselves to me by saying I was trying to enrich myself at the expense of car-riders and wanted long and protracted arbitrations," he said. "Let's call the bluff and have an end to this enrichment business."

"All I need say in answer is that no street railway manager in Massachusetts will agree with them, as they know it is not the truth and they have a high regard for their veracity. "It is commonly reported that last year's arbitration cost the trustees in the neighborhood of $15,000. The wage award of last year increased the expense of the company $1,500,000. It cost less than one per cent. of that amount to pay the expenses of the arbitration, including myself. It cost less than one-half of one per cent. to pay me."

FEMININE GOVERNMENT

Hopes to Produce Results Rather Than Promises in Thayer, Kas.

THAYER, Kan., April 28.—The feminine government, of this town, swept into power at the recent municipal election, promises Thayer a "business-like, forward-looking administration," but is not announcing any flamboyant promises of reform. The entire women's ticket—mayor, police judges and five councilwomen—was elected by a four to one vote over the men's ticket. This is the only town in the state which has a woman mayor.

"We have no campaign pledges to fulfill; we made no pledges, for we were drafted for the nominations," asserted Mrs. A. H. Forrest, the new mayor. "However we intend to serve with all our heart and trust that we will produce results, rather than promises."

"This town, like many small towns—you know our population was only 523 in the last census—was suffering from ennui. The women of the town through the women's clubs have been trying to do things for the town, and have succeeded to some extent. However, I believe we will be in position to do much more now that we have an entire corps of city officials in entire sympathy with these efforts."

"Neither myself nor any of my associates was consulted in regard to the nomination. It was conferred on us by those who stand for a progressive policy, and they manufactured the slogan of the campaign, 'Get Thayer out of the jack-oaks stage' and 'vote for the women; it means a clean town.' We shall try to give the city a businesslike, forward-looking administration. Just what our program will be, I cannot say until we have met and formulated one."

Heretofore the "city fathers" have been for the most part aged men. The men's ticket in the recent campaign was dubbed "the jack-oaks ticket" due to the fact that all the candidates were

SHE CAN'T FIND WORDS TO EXPRESS HER JOY

Mrs. Gamache Was Almost in Despair When She Began Taking Tanlac—Gains 18 Pounds on Three Bottles

"My friends tell me I want to talk about Tanlac all the time and they are right about it for no woman ever had more cause to be grateful to a medicine than I have to Tanlac," said Mrs. Yvonne Gamache, 375 Middleboro ave., East Taunton.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was almost in the depths of despair, as I had been in miserable health for two years and everything I had tried had failed to help me. I had no appetite, even the thought of anything to eat was distasteful to me and I was so nervous I didn't get enough rest day or night to do any good. Many a night I didn't get so much as a wink of sleep. I was so weak and worn out I felt tired all the time. I went to bed tired, got up tired and felt tired all day long. I felt out of weight until I was little more than a shadow and was almost desperate as all I could see in the future was a life of misery and final helplessness.

"I can hardly find words to express the joy and happiness I felt when Tanlac proved to be just what I had been needing all along. It certainly is different from other medicines. It benefited me in every way. In fact, just made me feel like a different person. I seemed to get new life and energy with every dose. I have an appetite now, the like of which I never expected to have again and everything agrees with me. Why, just to think, I have gained 18 pounds in weight on just three bottles. My nervousness is all gone and I sleep as peacefully as a child every night and get up in the morning so refreshed and happy I just can't keep from singing as I dress myself. Of course, I am enthusiastic about Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of Dr. T. J. Tanlac, and by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by all the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

LIVES IN AN OLD BARN

British M. P. Gives Away Mansion and 20 House to Avert Danger of Revolt

HYDE, Eng., April 28.—Austin Hopkinson, a member of the house of commons, has just given to the local governing council of Hyde his mansion, valued at $150,000, and 20 other houses and he has gone to live in an old barn on what was once a part of his estate. He has taken this action because he believes that a manifestation of the spirit of self-sacrifice on the part of public servants would avert the danger of a revolution in England.

Mr. Hopkinson's other deeds of generosity include the disposal of his furniture to friends and the needy, partly by sale at bargain prices and partly by free gift. He gave his handsome automobile to his chauffeur. The latter has now started in business with it. His former employer, the donor of the machine, is one of his best customers. To questioners, Mr. Hopkinson has said his intention was to live the life of a simple workman and to help others as much as possible. In his own workshops, he has introduced a profit-sharing system that without precedent last month as the higher the yield the less he receives, and after a certain sum is reached, he is to receive nothing at all.

During the war Hopkinson was an officer. He was discharged as unfit, but rejoined as a private.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. today reduced its quarterly dividend to one per cent.

URGE COX TO DROP TRUSTEES

Leaders of Carmen Say Board Broke Contract and Ignore Arbitration

Also Charge Plan to Intimidate Men—Chairman Loring Attacked

BOSTON, April 28.—Speeches and a resolution advocating the removal of the public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway and calling on Gov. Cox to compel the trustees to submit their differences with their employees to arbitration, were made and adopted at an open mass meeting in Tremont Temple, last night, held under the auspices of the unions on that system.

The resolution, which was presented by William J. Walsh, business agent of Boston Car Men's union, was unanimously adopted amid cheering and hand-clapping that could be heard a considerable distance from the temple. The meeting authorized George H. Keegan, its chairman, to appoint a committee of 10 to call on the governor and make known to him the action of the meeting. The resolution reads as follows:

"We, the representatives of organized labor in Massachusetts, in mass meeting assembled, have heard the representatives of the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway System present the facts in their controversy with the public trustees of the company.

"These trustees are public officials appointed by the governor of Massachusetts and can be removed by him for cause.

"We think a great reason for such a removal is the flagrant violation not only of their contract but their denial of the great principle of arbitration of industrial disputes in this state.

"We therefore request his Excellency the governor to compel these trustees to submit their differences with the employees to fair, just and equitable arbitration and we call upon this splendid meeting to authorize the chairman to appoint a committee of 10 to wait upon the governor at his earliest convenience to present to him the action taken here tonight."

Attacks Loring
The meeting was opened by Mr. Keegan, who gave a resume of the situation. He charged that Homer B. Loring, chairman of the trustees, dominated that body, and asserted that it is up to the governor to remove the trustees and give the carmen a board that will recognize that the employees have at least an equity in arbitration of what they should work for and under what conditions.

"In this state," Mr. Keegan said, "there is a tribunal set up by the laws of this commonwealth for arbitration of industrial disputes, and how the arbitrary attitude of this board can be sustained in the present instance, with the carmen willing to arbitrate all questions and differences at issue, is more than I can imagine.

"While we were negotiating and voting on their propositions they were setting up cot beds in the arms of the various divisions to terrorize our members and their families, and we hope that the people of this state will insist that this board give the carmen a fair, just and equitable arbitration, instead of allowing them to force over 3000 men on the street, simply break up their organization and thus deny them the right of representation and collective bargaining."

Patrick J. O'Brien, second vice president of the Carmen's International union, related the methods taken to adjust the present controversy with the trustees step by step, from the time he was assigned to the arbitration board in 1917. He declared that the present policy of the trustees was premeditated, and charged them with "sitting up nights to hatch schemes to break the unions." He declared that the principal objection of the men to the one-man cars was that originally they were without safety appliances, and that when the carmen's union asked for them, they were refused.

Atty. James H. Vahey received an ovation. He declared that there had been only two arbitrations in 15 years of relations between the executives of the system and the men's union up to the receivership in 1917, and said that the pleasant relation existed with Mr. Donham during the receivership, but that "it's been one hell of a time since the public trustees took over the control of this system."

"If you accept their proposals," he continued, "it means the end of your union as you might just as well lose it. If you have to, as lose it through torture.

"The representatives of the different municipalities have indicated that they want arbitration. The trustees, while endeavoring to insult the employees and car riders by stating they are willing to arbitrate wages, coupled with their statement the threat that if the men insist on arbitration they will have no union agreement.

"The trustees and their paid agent, Fred A. Cummings, who is drawing a large salary for misrepresenting this situation, have tried to divert the attention of the employees and public from the real issue to me stating that I was trying to enrich myself at the expense of the car-riding public. In truth and fact, these statements are the personal opinion of Mr. Cummings, but insofar as the arbitration costs and fees are concerned, I am willing that the joint conference board disclose their books and show what they actually paid me if, at the same time, the trustees are willing to disclose Atty. Huriburt's fee, their representative in the arbitration proceedings of last year."

"It is commonly reported that the arbitration cost them in the neighborhood of $75,000, and I am willing to wager that the trustees paid Mr. Huriburt and his associates more for the six or seven weeks of arbitration than the employees paid me for the whole year that I was employed to represent and work for them."

SHORT OF BREATH AND ALWAYS TIRED

This Describes the Condition of Many Who Suffer From Anemia

When the blood is thin, as in anemia, it lacks the red corpuscles that take oxygen from the air we breathe and carry it to the tissues of the body. Oxygen is the part of the air that sustains animal life.

When the blood cannot absorb and carry oxygen the effect on the body is the same as when the air is deficient in oxygen, as in a close room. The result is a feeling of suffocation often described by anemic people as "shortness of breath."

Exercise, such as walking upstairs causes the heart action to increase, the blood demands more oxygen and the shortness of breath is combined with palpitation of the heart. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the blood making tonic, is the remedy just suited for this condition. These pills actually increase the oxygen carrying capacity of the blood and the shortness of breath and palpitation are quickly corrected.

"I am always glad to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Mary Stephenson, of No. 17 Huron st., Providence, R. I., "as I think that they are an excellent tonic for building up the blood."

"Many years ago when I was living in England I was confined in a convalescent hospital with anemia. Every bit of strength seemed to have left my body. I breathed with great difficulty and going up stairs was such an effort that I was exhausted by it. I had no desire for food and my sleep was restless and broken. I lost in weight and became very pale."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were suggested to me by my physician and the first box showed that they were adapted to my trouble. The first thing I noticed was that I breathed more easily, then my appetite improved and with that I became stronger. I began to sleep well and was rested when I arose. My color returned and my general health was good. Several people whom I had known were benefited by their use."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 60c a box. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

M'CALL JUSTIFIES THE PUBLIC CONTROL ACT

BOSTON, April 28.—An appearance of hunger on the faces of Boston Elevated railway conductors and motormen in the winter of 1917-18 was partly responsible for the decision of Governor Samuel W. McCall to send a special message to the legislature to consider public control of the road, he testified yesterday. He appeared before the joint legislative committee which is investigating alleged irregularities of the law making bodies of two and three years ago.

The former governor told how Boston Elevated public control legislation came before the legislature, recalling that the board of directors of the company had applied to him for relief from financial troubles in May, 1916, and that he had suggested appointment of a special commission to inquire into public control matters. This body reported in the spring of 1917.

"The next winter it was brought to my attention that a strike on the elevated was likely, which would have been disastrous and would have prostrated Boston," he said.

"The maximum pay of the conductors and motormen was about 33 cents an hour and I was informed they were the lowest paid group in the country—that it was hardly a living wage."

He said that James H. Vahey, general counsel for the Carmen's union, sought him in efforts to prevent a strike.

"At his suggestion," Mr. McCall continued, "I wrote a letter asking the men to defer their strike to allow an opportunity for mediation. He carried the letter to a meeting of the men and finally secured the consent of the men to delay the thing for two or three days."

"Later I went before the men and it seemed to me that they looked hungry—they looked as if they were having a struggle. I made up my mind after that to send the special message."

He said he did not favor public ownership, but that he had recommended to the legislature that the public service commission be given power to fix rates during the continuance of war and for a year afterwards. This "did not seem to meet the approval of the legislature."

Mr. McCall added that he had called upon Atty. Gen. Henry C. Atwill to assist him in finding a solution of the problem. Later the public control bill was passed and he signed it.

"With the road on its last legs and with business conditions at the time at an acute point I think that there was no governor in the history of the state who would not have signed the measure," he said.

Mr. Atwill, who followed Mr. McCall on the stand, asserted that the drafting and enacting of the bill were "above board in every particular." The Boston Elevated did not get all it wanted in the development of the bill, he said.

TWO INJURED BY AUTOMOBILES

Eugene J. Perrault, of Moody street, an employee of the E. A. Wilson Coal company, was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital yesterday, after a motor truck had run over him, injuring his leg. The police report of the accident is to the effect that a shovel fell off the truck, and when Perrault jumped off to get it, his leg was struck by the machine, a wheel of which went over his leg. The accident occurred on Allen street.

Mrs. Marietta Clavin, of Pawtucket street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets last evening and received painful injuries to her head. She was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was stated that she was resting comfortably and her condition was not serious. The automobile that figured in the accident is owned and was being operated by Albert Molson of 155 Seventh ave.

the fleet wore the serious gray now used in peace and war alike, and decks were cleared almost as for action, a precaution always taken at sea.

Continuous Canonade

It was a few minutes past 9 o'clock when the Pennsylvania, passing the reviewing ship, opened up the thunder of her presidential salute, and before the 21 guns had been spent, the next ship in line took up the firing while the Mayflower's batteries spoke in acknowledgment. The canonade continued in an almost unbroken roar until the review was over.

Crews of the battleships manned the rails in living walls of blue as the fighting craft steamed by. On the quarterdeck of each the marine guards snapped to "present arms" opposite the Mayflower, and the hands played the evening bars of The Star Spangled Banner. In return the presidential yacht paid the proper honors to the senior officer on each passing ship, firing a salute, however, only to the Pennsylvania.

Harding's First Review

It was Mr. Harding's first review of any part of the nation's sea power since he assumed office, and it was the navy's first opportunity to salute him. From the proud flagship Pennsylvania down to the humble "beef boats" and from admiral down to bluejackets, ships and men were sleek and alert for the occasion.

Before the fleet entered the Virginia capes, the Mayflower, which came down from Washington last night with President and Mrs. Harding and their party, was at anchor off Thimble light. Nearby was the naval yacht Sylph on which Secretary Denby and members of the house naval committee came to Hampton Roads, while private yachts, excursion boats and ferries clustered around the reviewing party.

Asst. Sec. Roosevelt Aboard
With Admiral Wilson, fleet commander on the Pennsylvania, was Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, who made the cruise from Guantanamo with the fleet and was on the flagship's bridge when she passed the Mayflower. The blue and white flag of the assistant secretary fluttered from a topmast.

The president, accompanied by Mrs. Harding and a few members of the senate naval and military committees, reached the reviewing point on the Mayflower from Washington in the early morning. Arriving with the presidential yacht was the naval yacht Sylph, bearing Secretary Denby, Admiral Countz, chief of naval operations, and members of the naval committee of the house of representatives. Before the review Mr. Denby and his party joined those aboard the Mayflower.

Admiral Wilson's armada reached Virginia capes late yesterday from Guantanamo bay, Cuba, and anchored for the night in Lynnhaven bay. Early today the fleet weighed anchor, and circled past the capes so as to reach the review point at the scheduled hour. The ships moved in single line formation, with the eight dreadnaughts in the van. Behind them came three pre-dreadnaughts, 16 destroyers, the mine laying force, 13 submarines and various auxiliaries.

This force went south early in January for joint maneuvers with the Pacific fleet in Panama bay and a cruise to South America. Returning, it spent several weeks at Guantanamo in what naval officers have described as the most successful winter drill in the history of the navy.

Tomorrow the fleet will break ranks, the individual ships scattering to their home yards for overhauling and repairs while the officers and men go on leave to visit their families.

Backache? Kidneys Inactive?

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was greatly benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (anti-uric acid). My kidneys had become congested and inactive, causing me to suffer from backache. I also had bladder weakness. I took 'Anuric' and my bladder and my kidneys became normal and I felt better in every way. I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Anuric for weak kidneys. SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of calomite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomite powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the calomite powder and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.—Adv.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the too nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh and the nail grows naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

LETTER FROM HARDING TO TRY 900 GERMANS

President Expresses Hope That U. S. Will Soon Bring About Real Peace

BOSTON, April 28.—A hope that the United States would soon be able to effect real progress toward a substantial peace, was expressed by President Harding in a letter which was read at the annual dinner of the Middlesex club last night. He referred to present conditions as constituting a nominal peace which lacks many benefits of a real peace.

"RED" LITERATURE DISTRIBUTED HERE

Circulars calling upon the workers to arm themselves for revolution against the United States government, were found distributed in the Hotel City of the city shortly by the police. The documents, which violently abused the American and other governments and predicted their downfall by force, were signed by what purported to be "the central executive committee, communist party of America." The local police authorities immediately notified the department of justice officials at their Boston headquarters, forwarding copies of the circulars. In view of the significance attached by radicals to May day, soon to be celebrated by red demonstrations throughout the world, a federal investigation may result from the findings of the documents here.

All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Right million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

TRY IT FREE

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

Send me your name and address and I will send you free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 314 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

RHEUMATISM Leaves You Forever

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if two bottles of Allenburys are taken, the sufferer will be free of the disease and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenbury has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the sufferer was in agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenbury, who for many years suffered the tortures of acute rheumatism, declares all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenbury definitely cures the worst of all diseases, as he has instructed Druggists, to guarantee it in every instance.—Adv.

PICTURE THE LIFE OF ROBIN HOOD'S BAND
Sedate choir fingers disported themselves in the roles of a cantata dealing with the fortunes of Robin Hood and his merry band of Sherwood forest outlaws in the First Presbyterian church last night. The cantata, entitled "Sherwood's Queen" is the product of the pen of T. Mee Pattison.

All of the familiar characters of Robin Hood's band, who have lived in English story and song through the centuries, are in the cast of the cantata. Robin Hood is there with his gallantries and mischief. Friar Tuck, boisterous and irresponsible, moves back and forth in the scenes. Marian, of course, appears, and she in the end is enthroned as "Sherwood's Queen."

The cantata was given a highly pleasing performance last night. Each one of the parts was sung with ability that showed the result of careful training. Tonight the performance will be repeated.

The performance was given under the direction of John M. Brown and Mrs. Lillian Dodge Haskell. The accompaniments were furnished by Minnie Tucker Thompson, pianist; Waldo E. Murphy, violinist; Marion E. Morrison, violinist, and Finley M. Gray, cornetist. Charles B. Stillwell, of the Lowell Opera House, painted the scenery.

APPLICATION OF NEW PENALTIES

Action To Be Taken By
Allies Against Germany To
Be Discussed Tomorrow

Supreme Allied Council To
Fix Boundary Between Po-
land and Upper Silesia

PARIS, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—Application of further penalties to Germany and the tracing of new boundary lines between Poland and German upper Silesia, will be discussed by the supreme allied council at London on Saturday. The council will limit its deliberations to these subjects, it was said, having decided to take up only questions of urgency. The determination of the frontier between Poland and German Silesia, would be based upon reports from the plebiscite commission which supervised the voting held in upper Silesia, and recommendations from the council of ambassadors.

The United States, it is understood, will be invited to have a representative at the London meeting.

Lloyd George Rejects Offer

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—Mr. Lloyd George, the prime minister, speaking in the house of commons today on Germany's reparations proposals, said: "I very much regret to say that they are thoroughly unsatisfactory and I wish it had been possible for me to say that they alter the situation."

To Thank U. S.

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—It was announced by Reuters' Limited today it had learned that Franco had instructed Ambassador Jusserand in Washington to thank the United States government "for its assurance that the United States would not deliver the German reparations note without the approval of the allies."

Unacceptable to France

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Ambassadors of the allied powers were looked to here today for indications of the attitude of their governments toward the latest German counter-proposals on reparations. As indicated by information contained in Associated Press despatches from Paris last evening, M. Jusserand, former president of the Lowell chamber, will be one of the speakers at the gathering.

LOWELL MEN WILL GO TO LAWRENCE

It is expected that a delegation from the Lowell chamber of commerce will journey to Lawrence this evening to attend the get-together and smoke talk which will be held in the quarters of the Home club in connection with the reorganization campaign of the downriver board of trade, which is being conducted by Lewis Buddy, W. N. Goodell, former president of the Lowell chamber, will be one of the speakers at the gathering.

The chamber of commerce announces that this month five new members were added to its membership roll, Russell Construction Co., Hildreth building; New York restaurant, Central street; Bankers Exchange Corp., Central st.; La. Victrola, Inc., Merrimack st., and Fred C. Church, Jr., Central st.

Mr. Fred C. Weld, president of the Lowell Harvard club and a prominent member of the chamber, will attend the 23d annual meeting of Associated Harvard clubs, which will be held at Milwaukee, Wis., June 10 and 11.

A meeting of the Lowell Auto Dealers' association will be held this evening in the rooms of the chamber of commerce to perfect plans for the organization. Luncheon will be served.

GERMAN TERMS UNSATISFACTORY

Attempt to Clarify Proposals

Results in Even Greater
Confusion

Great Britain Declares "Evasive Methods" Cannot Be Allowed to Continue

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press).—Germany's attempt to clarify certain of her reparation proposals, in compliance with the request of the British foreign office yesterday, was said in official circles today, to have resulted in even greater confusion. Great Britain has asked for further explanations, and the interchanges are continuing, although they are said to be entirely informal.

The present position of Great Britain is understood to be that the proposals are still "sketchy" and very unsatisfactory.

As the outgrowth of the British query of yesterday, Germany, it is stated, now suggests that the annuities extend over a period of from 60 to 75 years, or even longer, instead of the 42 years originally mentioned. This is declared in official circles to be a sample of the "evasive methods" of Germany, which cannot be allowed to continue.

Great Britain has requested information in regard to the proposed international loan which it is declared could not be floated at 4 per cent, according to the German terms.

M. Janssen, the Belgian foreign minister, and M. Theunys, Belgian minister of finance, had a conference here this forenoon with Louis Loucheur, French minister for the devastated regions, and afterwards conferred with Sir Laming Worthington Evans, British secretary for war, and Edwin S. Montague, secretary for India.

Later the Belgian representatives were quoted by Reuters' Limited as stating "in the most emphatic manner that they had been unanimous in the decision that the latest German proposals were not even worthy of discussion."

HONORING NAPOLEON

France is now in the midst of a celebration in memory of the greatest of her soldiers, statesmen and law-givers—Napoleon Bonaparte—who died in exile on the rocky Isle of St. Helena, May 5, 1821, a buffeted and wretched prisoner of the British government, subjected to the petty meannesses and exactions of a contemptible jailer.

It is common to think of Napoleon only as a military genius, who undertook to subject all Europe to his rule. It is a popular conception to look upon him as something of a human monster, drunk with blood and power, who sought to build up a vast empire by armed force over which he should rule as supreme dictator.

To Napoleon, history has been more kind than to some of those who were foremost among his enemies. The world is coming to see that the battles that he fought were the entering wedge that has made dynastic rule a shaky institution the world over and has placed the doctrine of the "divine right" of kings to rule in the discard. The greatest of modern soldiers, however, was something more than a man of war. He was foremost among lawgivers as the continued existence of the Napoleonic code in European countries to the present day testifies. It was Napoleon who gave France canals, improved her harbors, built highways and drained marshes. He gave the educational system of his country a new birth. Paris is more beautiful today because of the avenues and buildings that he had erected. If his military exploits were forgotten, his figure would still loom large as one of the benefactors of France and mankind. This is not the popular conception of Napoleon, but it is coming to be realized that it is the true one.

Early next month the attention of France—republican France—is to be centered on the last day of the nation's greatest hero as an exile on the rock of St. Helena. It is a pitiful picture that is presented of the great soul, for whom the whole world was too small a place, confined and confined under the control of a weak and nagging British officer. It is pathetic to think of him, who had once made and unmade kings and ruled over them, with not one disinterested person near him, of all the thousands who had profited from his favor, in whom he could trust. We see him pining over his garden, dreaming over again of the days of his greatness, fighting once more the battles which he had won and lost, a prey to mental disturbances, sinking at last wearily to rest, to have his small-souled jailer quarrel over the inscription that should be placed upon his coffin. That little was finally simply "Napoleon," without title or other distinguishing word, and as such he belongs to the ages.

It may well be wondered at this time what the outcome would have been if the great soldier had been able to carry out his intention to come to the United States after the battle of Waterloo. He did not come, but our sympathies cannot fail to go out at this time to the people of the republic across the sea as they recall the memory of their great leader.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

That was a startling statement made on Wednesday by Chairman McHugh of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, before the United States chamber of commerce in reference to the slump in our export business. He asserts that within a period of five months our export trade has been cut nearly in half, with the result that 555 steamers and sailing vessels were idle in the port of New York last week, while 650 steel vessels are without charter and many of the ships leaving port have cargoes of but 30 per cent of their capacity.

The business depression has affected the shipping interests and the demoralization of business on the other side of the ocean is also felt here in the reduction of our foreign trade.

In October of 1920 our export trade amounted to $751,000,000, whereas last month's total was $351,000,000. It appears that what is needed chiefly is a demand for our manufactured products. The domestic market is inadequate and its condition at the present time is so far below normal that relief must be found in the foreign market.

That, however, involves the necessity of some arrangement by which we can exchange commodities with foreign nations in addition to the establishment of foreign credits under which trade can be entered into with nations now financially unable to pay cash for what they want.

The Foreign Trade Financing Corporation is trying to solve this problem while some people think that it means merely a matter of handing out our money to foreign nations to enable them to buy our products. It is not exactly that, although it would have the same general effect on the countries so assisted. As an example of domestic conditions Mr. McHugh said that "in the matter of cotton alone, foreign demand and buying power have been so reduced that, with domestic consumption curtailed and the south's unpaid supply estimated at more than 6,500,000 bales, there is cotton enough now to supply the actual demand for a year, even if no cotton at all were raised in the United States during 1921." For tobacco and wool, it is estimated that in American warehouses there is a two years' supply.

It is to relieve this situation and similar conditions in other lines, that the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation is endeavoring to establish a credit system to be used to support and further American foreign trade. It will require a combination of capitalistic interests to do this and that such an undertaking, in the present unsettled conditions in Europe, must be attended with considerable financial risk is a foregone conclusion.

THAT LEGISLATIVE PROBE

Those legislators of 1918 who speculated in stocks that were advanced in price through legislative action—the enactment of a bill guaranteeing dividends at the public expense—have left a record that proves beyond a doubt, that they were more anxious to make money for themselves than to serve their constituents. That is the most charitable construction that can be placed upon their action. They used their legislative functions to advance certain stocks, but previous to the final act, they went out and borrowed freely from a bank, using the money to purchase the stock, and depositing the stock as collateral for the loans.

It is alleged that for this purpose also, large loans were advanced to members of the legislature who would otherwise receive no credit—not even to the extent of a postage stamp. Will the probing committee please find out by what secret collusion or conspiracy, men without any means or financial standing were advanced large loans, whether these opportunities to make money were arranged as an inducement to members of the legislature to vote for the Elevated Railroad bill or as rewards for having done so?

It seems that the manipulators who kept in the background, whether they were lobbyists, agents of the Boston Elevated or of the bank in question, should be brought into the foreground and made to bear their full share of the responsibility for the shady transactions that are now being exposed in connection with the passage of the Boston Elevated bill of 1918.

If there was any illegal transaction involved, it must have had two parties in interest and hence both should be punished with equal severity. Some people think that the whole inquiry will wind up in a general whitewash, which would place upon the legislature of 1921 the odium of condoning a corrupt and scandalous abuse of the legislative function by certain members of the general court of 1918.

MEAN AUTO THIEVES

Auto thieves are with us again and they are the meanest kind of thieves as they take the cars out of the city, strip them of everything portable, and then set them on fire. The punishment of such offenders, if caught, should combine the penalty for theft with that for arson.

Auditor Tarbox tells us that Lowell has an accounting system that "is of great service to the city in promoting efficiency and economy." Perhaps he may be able to tell us where the "efficiency" and "economy" twins may be located.

Five thousand women answered the question of a Parisian magazine, "What great man would you rather have married?" It shows a singular lack of appreciation that not one of them answered, "My husband."

The presentation of a chair, made from the timbers of one of the first American warships, to Mr. Harding, need not be taken as implying that the gifters think the president should "go away back and sit down."

The members of the Middlesex Women's club cannot find a single candidate to run for president of their organization. Happy, thrice happy, should be a club thus free from "politics."

Arbitration is the principle upon which the state relies for the preservation of industrial peace. Where it is rejected, trouble usually results and in most cases the party holding out against it is the chief loser in the end.

Governor Cox says he thinks Massachusetts has done a fine job in the way in which she has attempted to look after her street railways by legislation. Do we hear a single faint "Amen?"

The head of the Valparaiso (Ind.) university says that his institution is a hotbed of "Bolshevism." There is an educational establishment into which evidently education needs to be introduced.

Men who are willing to submit the rate of wages and working conditions to arbitration by an unbiased tribunal, cannot be said to be unreasonable or arbitrary.

"The secretary of state in this administration writes the state papers to which his name is signed," comments the Boston Globe. An expert typewriter, eh, or does he use a pen?

We are interested to know if the course of study pursued by the class in "mothercraft" recently graduated in Boston, included the production of pies such as mother used to make.

We are willing to concede that Boston has set Lowell a worthy example in planning to name one of its public squares after one of its world war heroes—an army nurse.

Strawberries are here and—u-u-r-r-r—having tasted some of them, we shall be disappointed if we do not hear next of another sugar shortage.

Parking autos in Prescott street blocks traffic, even though in certain cases it is permissible under the existing rules.

The public wants lower street railway fares, but not at the price of a refusal of the public trustees to arbitrate their difference with their employees.

Mr. Harding says that he is not able to "grasp" Professor Einstein's idea of relativity. It is not essential to the success of his administration.

The members of the United States chamber of commerce are to discuss the question, "What is normal overhead?" Blue sky isn't it?

There's a reason why people of live-up-to-date Lowell look upon Boston as a joke. The Hub has just placed its first policeman on duty.

The best place to spend saved day-light—out-of-doors.

Paradoxical—one of the worst ways of slipping down is to slip up.

SEEN AND HEARD

Strange as it may seem, bad men are sometimes more welcome at home than good ones.

Benton H. Thomas of New Orleans is ready to go before the Louisiana constitutional assembly if necessary to secure the passage of a bill making it lawful and commendable for all towns of more than 2000 inhabitants to construct and equip matrimonial stations, to encourage and facilitate the natural and legitimate aspirations of young people in the direction of marriage.

"The Family Skeleton" asked Driver, as he met a friend. "Are you feeling seedy?" "Not, not exactly that," replied the friend, "but I'll admit I've been worried of late. You remember I hired a man to trace my pedigree?" "Yes," replied Driver. "What's the trouble? Hasn't he been successful?" "Successful! I should say he had!" said the friend. "I'm having to pay him hush-money."

A Good Comeback. There had been a certain amount of breeziness in the discussion, which centered around the relative virtues and accomplishments of the two sexes. "You men," said the advanced young woman, "think a great deal of yourselves because there is a shortage of your kind. Personally, I should not mind in the least living in a world where the men and the girls were separated by an ocean."

The darling bachelor smiled at her. "I dare say you are right," he agreed. "Still, in the event you mention, I'm certain there would be a large number of women drowned."

She Hurdled Home. Mrs. Johnson had gone away from home, leaving Mr. Johnson lamenting. On arriving at her destination she missed her gold brooch, and sent a postcard to her servant asking the girl to let her know if she found anything on the dining room floor when sweeping it next morning.

The servant duly replied: "Dear Madam—You ask me to let you know if I found anything when sweeping the dining room floor this morning. I beg to report that I found 30 matches, 3 corks and a pack of cards."

Mrs. Johnson returned by the next train.

Success. It's doing the job the best you can and being just to your fellow-man. It's making money, but holding friends and staying true to your aims and ends.

It's figuring how and learning why. And looking forward and thinking high. And dreaming a little and doing much. It's keeping always in closest touch with what's going on and dead-end. It's being thorough, yet making speed. It's daring lightly the field of chance. It's making your work a brave business.

It's going forward despite defeat. And fighting staunchly, but keeping sweet. It's being clean and it's playing fair. It's making light of all despair. It's looking up at the stars above. And drinking deeply of life and love. It's struggling on with the will to win. But taking less than a cheerful grin. It's sharing sorrow, and work, and mirth.

And making better this dear old earth. It's saving something from strain and stress. It's doing your noblest—that's success. —From Tit-Bits, London.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The flying of an airplane over Lowell recalls the days when balloon ascensions were popular features at county fairs and Fourth of July celebrations. I recall one, and only one, trip in a hot air balloon.

In the center of a roped-off area was the big gas bag and its basket, and outside the ropes was a curious crowd of several thousand people. We climbed into the basket and the "professor," who was the skipper and owner of the air craft and had made journeys among the clouds without number, gave the order for the men who had been hanging on to the basket to "let go." They did and we gave a very weak little hop from the ground and then settled back again. Out went a couple of bags of sand over the side. We began to soar in a mild way. Then we hit something. It was the side of an apartment house. Out went another bag of sand and window blinds and awning shades went crashing down from the side of the house as we went slowly skyward. We did not get so very far toward the blue etheral, however. As soon as we were above the shelter of the apartment house the wind hit us and we craft and I had been misbehaving before it began to show what it could really do in the way of cutting-up now. I have ridden over First street. Such an incident is one to be remembered, but it really is not in the class with my ride in the air. We bumped on French roof, we went over the roof, we went over the roof, we were caught and nearly dumped out on peaked roofs; we jogged up against chimneys and we collided with flag-poles, family washings on the roofs and lightning rods. It was all done in a hurry, too, for the wind began to get in its work as soon as we were above the buildings. There was no more sand aboard, so we could not hope to go higher. The outlook for going down was not promising. After a journey of about a mile we came to a large open field. The "professor" pulled a rope that led somewhere up in the air. We came down with a thump that had the effect of farthinging it to it, and crawled somehow from beneath the wreck of the gas bag.

While I was waiting for the arrival of the aeroplane at Chelmsford Tuesday, I had the pleasure of seeing "Little Prince." Lowell's noted equine mascot, being his first work on the local track Oscar Dewel held the ribbons and "Little Prince" jogged the first mile in three minutes. Without apparent exertion, save for his breathing, "Little Prince" stepped it as though indulging in favorite pastime. The slim legs didn't merely rise and fall—they actually twinkled. Of course, immediately after the arrival of horsehood had finished his little military jaunt of the season, he was "bagged" by his master and the assistant. Spurred and curried, and otherwise coddled in a manner for which an amateur in race-track terms can find no words, the graceful brown horse was finally blanketed and hooded and taken for a nice, leisurely stroll. Wonder how many humans get as careful treatment as that horse. But then, how many humans can do a mile in a trifle over two minutes, as "Little Prince" has done?

TIED OF BEING ROBBED

U. S. mail autos have been "soft picking" for the Chicago bandits recently. Now Uncle Sam has had enough. So the Chicago mail conveyances now carry guards, armed to the teeth. Bandits will get a warm reception if they attempt to pull off a stick-up.

BRITAIN MOVES FOR PEACE

Opposition at Home to President Policy Forces Lloyd George to Act

Government Seeking to Get Troublesome Ulster Leader Out of Way

(From the New York World.)

LONDON, April 24.—The Earl of Derby's mission to Ireland is seemingly the first real effort to be made by Premier Lloyd George to promote an Irish settlement. All previous alleged moves have been merely strategic operations intended to maneuver the Sinn Fein into disruption and defeat.

But the increasing gravity of Great Britain's situation, both externally and internally, and the acknowledged failure of Dublin castle, despite its limited powers and immunities, to destroy the Sinn Fein movement, together with the condemnation of the Irish administration by the heads of all British Protestant communities, has evidently impressed the premier with the necessity of at last trying to get the Irish problem on its way to a settlement.

The projected summoning of the two Irish parliaments, with the certainty that the southern parliament will exist, exclusively of Sinn Fein, will refuse to function, is forcing the cabinet to fulfill its threat of placing southern Ireland under a crown colony government. This is likely to be even less successful than the present system and also makes urgent the necessity of trying for peace.

Sir Edward Carson, who has hitherto vetoed any concession beyond the existing unworkable act, is said to be about to take appointment as lord of appeal, which will remove him from the house of commons, where he holds the whip hand over the premier, and would give him a seat in the house of lords, where his power for evil would be less potent. Sir Edward must be given to the fact that the southern Ireland boycott is crippling Ulster and Belfast business men, who are being made to realize that their independence and desire for southern Ireland were dangerous delusions for which they are now paying a ruinous price.

If a change of heart were admitted by the Ulster orange ascendancy and a full measure of dominion home rule proposed by the government for southern Ireland, then a genuine settlement could be attained. The house of lords did not object. Those who advocate this proposal assert the British government should of course undertake the restoration of areas devastated by crown forces, as under any real scheme of settlement American generosity could hardly be expected to provide for the restoration as it proposes to do by its present schemes of relief.

Lord Derby is as good an emissary as could be chosen from among the Tories, especially as he is acquainted with the strength of the Irish vote in his own county of Lancashire, where hundreds of thousands of Irishmen formerly supporters of the constitutional movement in Ireland have been driven into sympathy with the Sinn Fein by the present policy of Premier Lloyd George and his proteges, Sir Henry Greenwood. The labor party is making a tremendous effort to sweep Lancashire at the next election and with the support of the Irish vote would have a good chance of succeeding, but if Lord Derby proved to be a harbinger of peace and settlement in Ireland, his candidates might hope for a share of the Irish suffrages.

DISAPPEARANCE OF SPOKEN DRAMA

CHICAGO, April 28.—Remedy for the disappearance of the spoken drama from a great many small cities, due to a combination of motion pictures, high railroad fares and general uncertainty of the theatrical business outside of a few large cities, will be sought at the 11th annual convention of the Drama League of America opening here today.

A report on the actual condition of the "one night stand" made from a survey of the country, will be given to the convention. Walter Pritchard Eaton, a director of the league, said: "Travelling companies as we used to know them, have practically been done away with."

A manager has been called in to tell his side of the case, while the small town looks at it will be related by Harold L. Belgut of Grinnell, Ia.

"By its program this year the Drama League frankly acknowledges the need of amateur effort everywhere if the spoken drama is to survive beyond the confines of the large cities. At its convention it is going to bring all the help and encouragement it can to all those who are working for this end."

"Many phases of amateur effort, including high school drama, religious drama and little theatre circuits planned to help small local theatres exchange plays and productions, will be discussed. Perhaps the most important of all will be reports on what has been done and can be done to bring the spoken drama to the rural regions."

How much the theatre has changed in the past decade and how the interests of the Drama League are changing with it to meet new conditions, are illustrated vividly in the program of this year's convention. When the league was organized, its object was to "educate audiences" to support the best plays in the theatre and thus to encourage the tours of these plays through the country.

PONZI BROUGHT INTO COURT

State's Charges, if Sustained, Would Expose Him to Heavy Sentence

Appearance Noted on Records and Arguments Set for Next Tuesday

BOSTON, April 28.—Charles Ponzi, who is serving a five-year sentence as a federal prisoner in Plymouth county jail for using the mails to defraud, was brought to the bar of the superior court today to stand trial on the state's many charges against him.

Sheriff Earl Blake, who produced the prisoner, had been technically arrested for contempt when he persisted in the position that Ponzi as a federal prisoner was not subject to trial in the courts of the state. The federal court, however, concurred in the petition of Attorney General Allen that Ponzi should be placed on trial on the larceny charges pending against him. These charges, if sustained, would expose the former financier to a much greater sentence than that which is now undergoing. The actual proceedings today were brief.

Judge Fessenden had Ponzi's appearance noted on the records of the superior court, but did not call upon him to plead. Counsel for the prisoner announced that he was present under protest and that they would deny the jurisdiction of the court. Arguments on this phase of the case were set for next Tuesday.

MORE VOTERS FOR VOTING PRECINCTS

A large number of the 25 local voting precincts will have more voters this year than last fall, according to the returns of the assistant assessors made at city hall following their canvassing of the entire city this month. Among the precincts which saw decreases are precinct 2 of ward 2, precinct 1 of ward 1, and precinct 3 of ward 2. Precinct 3 of ward 2 is incomplete as is precinct 3 of ward 6. All the other precincts show an increase.

LUFKIN FOR BOSTON PORT COLLECTOR

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Senator Lodge formally recommended to Sec. of the Treas. Mellon yesterday the appointment of Representative William W. Lufkin of Essex to be collector of the port of Boston. He also recommended the appointment of Samuel W. George of Haverhill to be chief appraiser at Boston. This recommendation will be transmitted to the president, by whom the appointments are made.

Mr. Lufkin's appointment is to be effective as of July 1, and it is understood that Collector Billings' resignation will be tendered effective as of that same date.

The appointment of Mr. Lufkin to what is regarded as the most important federal post in Massachusetts has been foreboded for several weeks and it has also been known with certainty that Mr. George, who has been an assistant appraiser under two administrations and has served the government in that capacity while three different tariff bills were on the public statute, would be named as chief appraiser.

BITTER ATTACK ON KNOX PEACE RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The first attack in the senate on the Knox peace resolution came today from the republican side. Senator Nelson of Minnesota, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, characterized the resolution as "unusual, halting, equivocal and only a partial and piecemeal work."

His opposition shattered hopes of leaders for a solid republican lineup for adoption of the resolution.

LAME HORSE CRUELY DRIVEN BY BOYS

Three youngsters cruelly driving a lame horse were apprehended last evening by agents of the Lowell Humane society, who were summoned by a telephone call from Tyngsboro. The youths were bringing three horses from Nashua, N. H., and when the humane society officials met them, one of the animals was covered with perspiration due to the pain of his lame foot. The names of the three boys were taken, and they were allowed to proceed to this city, while the injured horse was put up at a Tyngsboro livery stable. An agent of the society stated this morning that the boys are being considered as the most culpable in the affair, as they were sent here with the horses.

LOWELL MAN BOUGHT CINOT BECAUSE HE KNEW PEOPLE WHO WERE HELPED BY IT

Mr. James Brown of 318 Bridge Street, Lowell, Mass., and a Well Known Printer, Says a Few Good Words About the Tonic CINOT That Is Convincing

All of us like to hear good things and few of us like to hear unpleasant news and CINOT is the one thing in Lowell today that is spreading glad tidings throughout New England. He says:

"I suffered from a disordered stomach with dizzy spells and had no appetite and felt in need of a tonic that would brace me up and make me feel as I should. "CINOT was recommended to me and I have taken two bottles and the results have been more than I looked for."

Two distinct characters are played by Charles Ray, inimitable screen star. It is the hero of the week end program opening at the Rialto theatre today and in his no less a vehicle than the dramatization of James Whitcomb Riley's famous poem, "The Old Swimming Hole." Can you imagine the hit that Charles is going to make as the ragged village boy who finds the Fin of the neighborhood. He is eternally in trouble with the other ragamuffins when he is falling in and out of love with the belle of the countryside, but for all his mischievous pranks he is a lovable character after all. Ray makes the most of his opportunities in this picture. Supporting "The Old Swimming Hole" for the week-end and Mary Miles Minter in an attractive story, "The Little Clown," a comedy, "Torchy Blaine," an episode of "Fighting Fate" and the Fox news.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Rich slices of comedy are surely purveyed by Bobby Bernard at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week. "A Regular Guy" is the comedy in which this unusual comedian appears, and he is supported by a company which is unusually competent. It is a sketch dealing with the travelling salesman, and shows him from an angle slightly different than we are accustomed to get. Brown and O'Donnell, who turn out fun of many kinds, are co-stars on the go, while The Velody Garden is not only good to listen to, but a healing sight for tired eyes. One of the best of the season is "Feminine Types" hits the bull's eye many times. The remainder of the bill is equally including. Rooney is always a "After Dark" with Blondy, two athletic marvels, and Lawton, a phenomenal juggler.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Governor Harding of the federal reserve board announced today that he would begin next week a personal survey of the farm credit situation in the middle west and southwest.

Jusserand, the French ambassador, was expected to inform Secretary Hughes today that the proposals are unacceptable to France.

Similar intimations were received from Brussels but the position the other powers will assume toward the German plan has not been indicated. Their official announcements, however, are expected to be not long delayed in view of Secretary Hughes' known desire to be informed of the attitude of all the allied powers before replying to the German proposals.

The general policy of the American government in the matter is understood to have been determined at Tuesday's cabinet meeting so that the absence of President Harding to review the Atlantic fleet at Hampton Roads will not interfere with prompt action, unless some unforeseen contingency should arise.

France Rejects Offer

PARIS, April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The German counter-proposals on reparations as transmitted to President Harding at Washington are absolutely unacceptable, and the French ambassador to the United States, M. Jusserand, has been notified to this effect.

The proposals are characterized by government officials as "a step backward," and are declared to give no promise of a satisfactory settlement. All eyes are now turned on Washington, where the counter-proposals are under advisement, but no new fact had developed here up to midnight to change the situation as it concerns the attitude of France.

The general feeling is that occupation of the Ruhr is unavoidable but it is believed in some circles barely possible that in some way the Berlin government may be made to understand through Washington the seriousness of the situation and the essential fact that no proposal can be considered by the French government unless based on the Paris conditions.

It is pointed out in official circles that the Germans in their proposals are precise in their demands and extremely vague in their offers and that what they propose would yield to France only one-third of the French reparations claims and that only conditionally.

The Germans, on the other hand, demand: First, release of all pledges held by the allies in the way of occupation or upon German property abroad; second, that upper Silesia shall remain German territory; third, release from all the cost of the military occupation of the Rhineland, as well as the evacuation of other German territory.

This amounts, according to the French view, to giving up all guarantees without any alternative security or definite assurance even that the promised amount will be paid.

EXPECT BIG CROWD AT TONIGHT'S BOUTS

Plans have been made by the Crescent A.A. officials to handle a large crowd tonight for a record turnout expected to be on hand to witness the second local engagement of Woonsocket Joe Gibbs and Johnny Young Avila. Surely if the bout is anything like their previous encounter it will be worthy of a packed house.

After their last thrilling bout many fans who were not on hand expressed regret and begged the management to request a rematch. The management agreed many others who were in on the boxing treat agreed that they would like nothing better than to see the pair have it again. The management went out and agreed 'em up and for these reasons arrangements have been made to accommodate a banner attendance.

There is also much interest in the other bouts on the card. There will be two eight, with all local boys the participants. Happy Conley and Young Salvo with exchange wallops in one and Brick Claven and Jimmy Demas are scheduled to perform in the other. The first bout will go on at 8.30 o'clock.

NEW YORK BROKER SUES TEX RICKARD

NEW YORK, April 28.—"Tex" Rickard yesterday was made defendant in a suit filed by Frank C. Armstrong, who alleges he has been associated with Rickard in a business way, and who demands an accounting of several enterprises in which he maintains he had a share. The amount of Armstrong's claim is not stated.

Mr. Rickard last night declared he had no dealings with Armstrong other than that the latter had introduced him to the Texas Oil Co. He said Armstrong had made considerable money on the deal, and since then he had endeavored to interest himself in the various enterprises which Rickard has promoted. Armstrong, Mr. Rickard said, is a broker, dealing largely in oil stocks. "He has no claim against me," said Rickard.

Among the deals in which Armstrong claims he was connected with the promoter are the Johnson-Jedrej deal, the lease of the Madison Square garden, the Willard-Moran boxing match and the South American land, cattle, packing and concrete enterprise. Armstrong alleges that between June, 1910, and July, 1920, he was associated with Rickard and declared he had consulted with and aided Rickard in many of his business ventures. In connection with the Madison Square garden enterprise, the complaint alleges that Rickard was in fraud of the rights of the plaintiff, as Rickard has derived and is still deriving large rents, profits and other incomes from the garden.

ERNEST SMITH OUT OF GAME. CLEVELAND, April 28.—Ernest Smith, right fielder of the Cleveland Indians, and home run hero of the World Series with Boston, may be out of the game for several days. He strained a ligament and possibly a muscle in his right side during yesterday's game with Detroit.

CHICK GANDIL RELEASED

Promises to Voluntarily Appear at Chicago and Give Necessary Bond

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 28.—Arrested (Chick) Gandil, former White Sox player arrested here Tuesday night, to answer charges of participation in the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series, was released upon his own recognizance yesterday. The police said they acted upon instructions from Chicago.

Arrested Before Offer Came
CHICAGO, April 28.—Chick Gandil, arrested in Los Angeles in connection with the baseball scandal, was permitted to go free on his own recognizance because of assurances he had given state officials here that he voluntarily would come to Chicago and furnish bond pending his trial. It was said at the state attorney's office.

Gandil recently sent word that he would come here to surrender, but a warrant had been issued for him and was served before the ball player could reach this city, it was said.

Chicago Also to Appear
DETROIT, April 28.—Eddie Cicotte, former Chicago American league pitcher, named in connection with the baseball scandal, will appear voluntarily in Chicago within a day or two and furnish bond pending further action in the case. Announcement to this effect was made here yesterday by Daniel P. Cassidy, attorney for Cicotte.

Seek Immediate Trials
CHICAGO, April 28.—Attorneys for one of the indicted White Sox baseball players—"Buck" Weaver, Oscar "Happy" Felsch, Claude Williams, Fred McPhee and "Swede" Risberg—notified George A. Gordon, assistant state's attorney yesterday, that they would go before Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald of the criminal court today and file a demand for immediate trial of the indicted men. Michael Hogan, one of the attorneys representing the ball players, said that under the Illinois law this would be the first time a demand for trial would be automatically dismissed.

Young Merritt was signed up several months ago and he is eagerly awaiting the opening of the regular season. He has played on various amateur and semi-pro teams in and around Lowell and for the past couple of seasons has caught for teams at East Jeffrey, N.H.

MANY GAMES POSTPONED

CHICAGO, April 28.—Postponements have almost caught up with games played on the White Sox schedule. Seven future double headers have been chalked up compared with eight games played, and Manager Gleason is complaining of the lack of opportunity to play out the string of recruits picked up in place of Cicotte and Williams, who were among those dismissed because of the 1915 World Series baseball scandal. Last Sunday was the first appearance of three of the new pitchers, all of whom were batted hard by Detroit.

REDS RELEASE SCHMIDT

CINCINNATI, April 28.—Infielder Carl Schmidt has been released by the Cincinnati Nationals to the St. Paul club of the game for several days. He will leave for St. Paul tomorrow.

FAVOR YANKS TO LIFT POLO CUP

CAPTAIN DEVEREAUX MILBURN AND HIS MOUNT

By Newspaper Enterprise.
NEW YORK, April 28.—America's polo team looks a slight favorite to bring back the International cup from England.

The fact that England lost most of her polo mounts during the war gives the United States team the edge.

The 50 points which the Americans will use have been in England since last December.

Poles Trained
They have been under training all winter.

Captain Devereaux Milburn of the United States squad thinks that superior mounts will give his team the advantage over British rivals.

Other team members are Thomas Hiltchcock, Jr., J. Watson Webb and Charles T. Ramey. They are rated as the cleverest quartet the United States has had in years.

Louis Stoddard and Earl Hopping will be alternate members of the squad.

Great Britain has long been preparing for the invasion.

The matches are to be played on June 13, 22 and 25.

Three hundred American polo fans expect to make the trip to England on a special steamer early in May.

The cost of being a polo fan is considerable.

A conservative estimate of what each member of the 500 American enthusiasts will have to dig up is: Passage first-class to Southampton and return, $50.

Trip on board en route, $25.

Two weeks' living expenses, estimated at $100.

Admission to the game (maximum price) $100.

This makes a total of $775, which doesn't include such things as bar bills while the boat is outside the three-mile limit.

Tickets for the matches will sell at $100, $50, $25 and $10.

These are unprecedented high prices for polo.

Officers of the Polo association say it costs more to bed and feed the ponies now than in pre-war days.

KELLY AND RUTH TIED

BROOKLYN, April 28.—George Kelly, first baseman of the Giants, made his fifth home run of the season in the game with the Brooklyn Nationals here yesterday, tying "Babe" Ruth's record.

Adventures of The Twins

"MR. CAMEL'S REASON"

"WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO GO BACK TO THE CIRCUS?" SAID FLIPPETY-FLAP.

Yes, the pile of old rags was Caliph Camel himself. You never saw anything so lathered and torn and worn-out in all your life, at least Nancy and Nick were quite convinced that they never had, and Flippety-Flap said that even the "Man-All-Tattered-and-Torn" who married the "Maiden-All-Forgotten" couldn't hold a candle to him.

"What's the pile?" repeated Caliph, stretching his neck and yawning, and blinking sleepily. He really had as much neck as Gyp the giraffe, the twins thought, only instead of sticking straight up like an I, it curved down like a hammock into a U, which made it seem shorter.

"The pile?" answered Flippety-Flap. "It's short for a disease called crazy-withinheat. Some folks call it sunstroke, sir, I thought you were under some covers. I didn't know that the pile of rags was you."

"Thank you," said Caliph Camel, stiffly. "I don't suppose I look like a fashion magazine exactly, but I don't care a tin cent! There's no one here to see me but the buzzards and a snake or two."

The visitors shuddered. "Pleasant company you have," said Flippety-Flap. "Wouldn't you like to go back to the circus?"

"No, thank you," answered the camel abruptly.

"Why?"

"Why me no why's," retorted Caliph, crossly, but he added, "I suppose I'd better tell you why. They made me too comfortable, and if there is anything in creation that a camel cannot endure, it is to be too comfortable. A camel is never so comfortable as when he is uncomfortable."

Flippety-Flap pretended to faint, but the twins picked him up.

"You've got the pile, just as I feared," he declared when he got to his feet. "The heat has gone to your head."

STUDENTS HOLD ANNUAL DANCING PARTY

Students of Wood's Business college held their annual dancing party last evening in the hall with a large number of students and graduates in attendance. Last evening's affair marked the seventh annual event of the kind and was most successful in every respect.

The hall was appropriately decorated with white bunting falling from the balconies and sides of the hall, and the stage had as its background white bunting with the college seal in the center. Lattice work and greenery partially concealed the orchestra. The national colors were in evidence here and there and the scene as a whole was most attractive. Guests of the evening were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson and Elliot Wood, principal of the school. Many delightful reunions were among the pleasant features of the evening.

The officers of the party were: General manager, Alice Boyle; assistant general manager, John Stork; secretary, Margaret Murphy; treasurer, Mary Boyle; floor director, Anna Mahoney; assistant floor director, Anna O'Brien; chief aid, Mary Murray; aids, students of the college.

GIRL SCOUTS PRESENT FOUR-ACT COMEDY

A four-act comedy, "The Taming of Horrors," was presented with great success last evening by Troop 5, Girl Scouts, at the First Congregational church. The piece treats of the good influence which may be wielded by the Girl Scout movement. The following cast participated:

Mrs. Upkins (mother of Horrors)
Jesse James and Captain Kid (trouble-makers in Paradise Alley)
Patricia Kent (Girl Scout from Michigan)
Mrs. Kent (mother of Patricia and captain of Scout troop)
Scout Butler
Philly and Snowy Owl (trouble-makers in Paradise Alley)
Scouts Kilpatrick and Johnson (Aidy who roams up in the tower)
Scout Lockie
Diskey (the swimming enthusiast)
Scout Richards

Basketball Girls: Hope, Mollie, Jones, Thomas and Patricia

Between the acts the Melody orchestra of girls played.

NOVELTY MAY PARTY AND DANCE

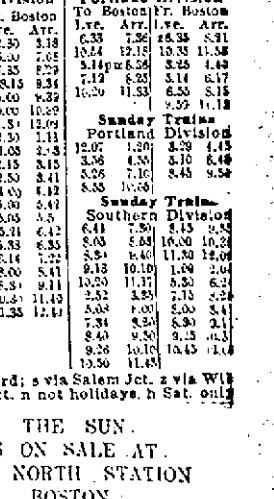

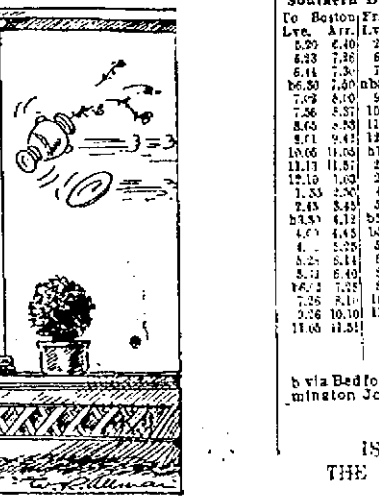

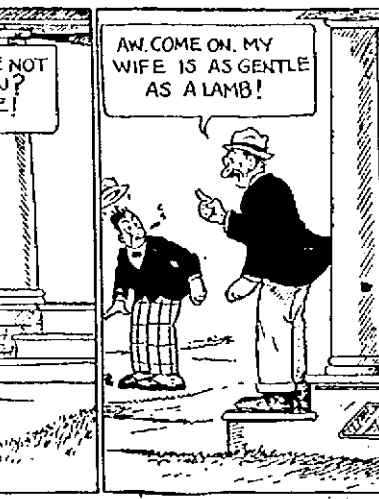

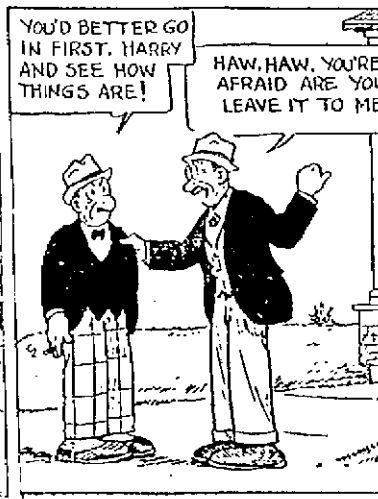

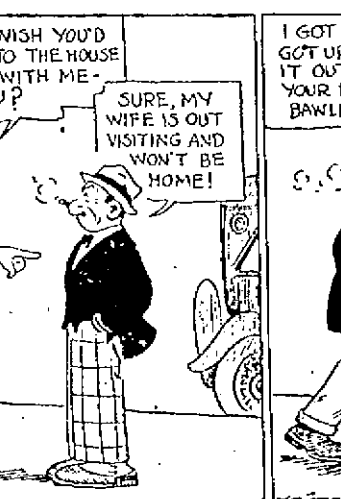

Lincoln hall was the scene last evening of a novelty May party and dance by Emma C. and D. of the Girls' City club. Banners of blue, bearing in white the initials of the organization, formed the decorative scheme. Music

FOR ILLEGAL KEEPING

Camerio Bologrie Fined $100

Sold Bottle of Wine to Police Officers

Complaints that young girls have been accustomed to go into the home of Camerio Bologrie, of Crosby street, and partake of home-made wine, brought the defendant who was fined $100 for illegal keeping, a warning from Judge Enright to the effect that another offense will mean a jail sentence. Police officers testified to the purchase of a bottle of wine for 50 cents. When analyzed by state chemists, it was shown that the beverage contained five per cent of alcohol, or well over the legal amount of one-half of one per cent. A search of Bologrie's abode revealed more wine, as well as various accessories usually associated with an illicit traffic in stimulants.

tomobiles on the road at the present time than there were at the same time last year, the conditions have improved much, so far as accidents are concerned. This improvement, doubtless, results from the new order making it necessary to examine every applicant before an operator's license is issued.

There are, however, three great problems yet to be solved before the highways can be considered safe. The first of these is speed. That is the principal cause of accidents. The speedster must be taken from the road, and this can be done only by continued vigilance on the part of the police authorities and the registrar. An agency in particular is necessary, and that is a motor cycle patrol.

The second menace which must be eliminated is the hooch-crazed maniac who is running amuck throughout the state. Apparently we have got beyond the drunken operator. We now have to deal with the man who is drinking Volstead cocktails. He sometimes takes one drink and sometimes more, and then loses all sense of obligation to the public. When he is convicted his license is taken away, and under a new order of this department the registration and number plates of his car are also taken from him, but that will not stop him. The remedy, in my opinion, lies with the courts. Any man who can afford to buy hooch can pay a fine of $25 or $50. The only way to stop men from operating automobiles after drinking is for the courts throughout the commonwealth to impose jail sentences upon all drivers convicted of this offense, and for the district attorneys to keep their hands off and try the cases out of their mere desire for a jury.

The third question is one of more human interest. How can we stop the slaughter of children? As a rule, according to an analysis of cases made by this department, the child is careless, and it would seem that the only solution is through education. Every parent and teacher should be constantly impressing upon the children the dangers of the highway. When we consider that 120 children were killed and about 2400 injured on the highways of Massachusetts during the year 1920, it must be apparent to all that some action must be taken to prevent these tragedies.

Previously, escaped with a $50 fine. Chelminski's attorney pointed out that the police arrested Hebert April 18, after he struck a one-man car, and charged him with drunkenness and with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. When the case came before the court this morning, the charge preferred was that of driving in a manner calculated to endanger the public safety. "I am not responsible for what the police do or whether their charge is correct," was Judge Enright's statement, who added that his function was to render decisions on the cases as presented. He advised Deputy Downey, however, that when police officers have not sufficient evidence to sustain a charge in the first place, they should not prefer such charges.

Police officers testified in the case of Chelminski that about 9.30 p. m., April 23, he was operating a Ford runabout and hit a traffic post on Gorham street. He admitted having partaken of liquid refreshment, but denied that he was intoxicated. The officers, however, both agreed that he staggered when they took him from the car to the police patrol. His counsel urged the misty character of the weather on that night, as the reason for his accident with the traffic post. However, on the driving while intoxicated charge he drew one month in the house of correction, and was fined $5. He appealed both findings, and was held for the return to court.

The case of Charles Hebert came up for the third time today. April 18 and 25 it was continued. It is stated that when he struck the one-man car on Merrimack street another man who was with him as a passenger was injured. He had two counts preferred against him, one of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and the other a straight drunkenness charge. Today on the docket these charges were recorded as filed, while a new charge, that of reckless driving, had been added. It was on this last and new count that he was fined $50. Counsel for Chelminski based his plea for "usual consideration" for his client upon these findings, which, however, Judge Enright pointed out were within the jurisdiction of the police.

Held for Grand Jury

he gave the name of Shapiro as one of the men who made the sale to him. Today on the witness stand Judge Enright heard the details of the transaction, which involved one Harry Greenberg, now in parts unknown, as well as the defendant. Feldman says he saw Shapiro receive $50 of the money he paid Greenberg. Shapiro's contention was to the effect that he was sent only as an agent for Greenberg, and that when he participated in the phony trade, he was not conscious of the fact that the cans were not perfectly correct. The testimony of Jake Bernstein, however, to the effect that Shapiro and Greenberg jointly sought to sell him liquor, was damaging to the defense. As the defendant's father, who is his bondsman, was not present today, the case was continued to tomorrow to permit of Shapiro being called.

Carnival a Success

The carnival which is being held all this week at the Casino in aid of the drive is proving a big success and the special attractions provided each evening are drawing large crowds from all parts of the city. This evening the usual cabaret, dancing and general entertainment features, together with a series of novel specialties, will be carried out.

Peter J. McKenna, chairman of the committee in charge of the carnival, announced today that arrangements had been made to have a children's day next Saturday afternoon. An excellent program of entertainment has been arranged to appeal particularly to youngsters and the admission price has been reduced to ten cents so that no child will be barred from attending because of financial reasons. The carnival will open at 2 o'clock that afternoon.

The usual evening performances will be held tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Tag Day Saturday

The League of Catholic Women has completed arrangements for the big tag day which it is to conduct for the benefit of the drive next Saturday. Between 500 and 700 young women will go into the streets of the city and surrounding towns to sell buttons at whatever price individuals wish to pay for them. If the day is not fair, the event will be held a week later.

The drive for the most part will center in the downtown section, although some of the more congested residential districts will also be visited. Button sellers will work in pairs throughout the day and will be relieved at intervals and an effort will be made to have everybody in Lowell wearing a button before the day is over. The campaign will begin early in the morning and continue well into the evening. Captains and Lieutenants in the various parishes have been assigned under the direction of Miss Alice T. Lee, president, and Mrs. John T. Donohue, who form the committee in charge of the affair.

Headquarters of the day will be in the league office, Harrington building, Central street, where all boxes will be turned in and later the money will be deposited in a local bank. Automobiles will carry workers to the outlying districts and the committee in charge asks those who have machines to spare on that day to get in touch with the league office at once. The assignment of captains is as follows:

St. Michael's: Miss Annie Duffell; immaculate Conception, Mrs. John Billingsley and Mrs. John McSorley; St. Peter's, Mrs. Jennie Rediker; St. Patrick's, Miss Alice McCarthy; St. Margaret's, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey; Sacred Heart, Miss Mary Wood; St. Columba's, Miss Grace Delany; Collinsville, Miss Mary Burke; North Chelmsford, Mrs. John Quigley; West Chelmsford, Mrs. Monahan; Graniteville, Mrs. Wall, and North Billerica, Miss Anna Higgins.

Meeting Tomorrow Evening

The general committee in charge of the drive will meet in Elks hall tomorrow evening and at that time final plans for putting the campaign over the top will be discussed.

It will be well into next week before an accurate idea of the amount of money raised in Lowell can be obtained. The receipts from the carnival and the button day Saturday are expected to swell the total considerably and until the receipts from both these enterprises are tabulated, Lowell's work in the drive will not be definitely known. If Lowell is shown not to have made her quota next week, it is probable the authorization will be asked from the state committee in Boston to continue the drive.

Invited to Dinner

Fred H. Bourke, county supervisor of the drive in northern Middlesex county, has received a letter from Jas. J. Phelan, chairman of the national committee on Irish relief, notifying him of a dinner to be held at the Hotel Commodore in New York May 15 at which guests will be asked to pay $500 per plate. Chairman Phelan asks that arrangements be made to send a representative from the Lowell district. The matter will come up at tomorrow's meeting. The letter in part follows:

Dear Sir:—Capt. J. F. Lucey, national director of our American Committee for Relief in Ireland, advises us that the national committee of organization will be held for a monster dinner to be held at Hotel Commodore, New York city, Monday, May 16. It is proposed to make this a national affair for the purpose of raising the largest feature of our entire campaign.

The primary object of the dinner is to raise money for the relief of the Irish relief fund, which up to the present time has not equalled the amount set as the goal by our organization. It is planned to have 1000 guests at $500 per plate, the purpose of the event being to raise in this manner half a million dollars. It will be representative of the complete relief of the Irish suffering will be held by prominent people from Ireland. The story of the formation of our American committee will be told in detail. The national committee will describe the methods and means by which the actual distribution will be undertaken in Ireland and the reports of the Irish relief fund will be able to report to their co-workers how every dollar will be spent. Speakers of national prominence will address the gathering.

It is realized that it will not be easy to get a large number of people to contribute $500 each for a dinner of this kind. Therefore, the executive committee has voted to transmit an announcement of this affair to all our country, district and local chairmen in the states which request that they take the matter under immediate consideration and see what means can be adopted towards securing a representative from their locality to this affair.

Move to Prevent Strike

day. At the same time, Chairman Edward Fisher of the board said the union would be requested to postpone any walkout for the time being.

The announcement by Chairman Fisher followed separate conferences with each side. The joint conferences, he said, would begin as soon as representatives of the two parties would agree on the time.

The program of the conferences was indicated by Mr. Fisher as resting on three propositions: First, the willingness of each side to submit to arbitration; second, what issues shall be submitted; third, whether the state board or some other body shall be the arbiters.

Preparations by the trustees to operate the road in the event of a strike continued today. Three hundred men for use in powerhouses and on the cars had arrived here today, the trustees said, and more were expected tomorrow. Car barns have been prepared with cots as sleeping quarters for their use at various divisional headquarters.

To See Governor Tomorrow
The municipal council of this city is prepared to go before Governor Cox tomorrow afternoon to request him to force the trustees to agree to arbitration and not only will they represent Lowell, but the town of Tyngsboro as well. Chairman Fred L. Snow of the board of selectmen of that town, has written to Mayor Thompson, stating that at a meeting of the board last evening, it was voted to have the council represent Tyngsboro at the conference, if possible.

The city of Lowell was represented at last evening's mass meeting held in Tremont Temple, Boston, under the auspices of the employees, by Arthur Woodley, secretary to the mayor. He was in the section reserved for representatives of various cities and towns of the Eastern Massachusetts system. Present also from this city were President Powers and Secretary Harrington of the platform men's union and President Anderson and Secretary Lane of the barn men's union, together with a large number of other employees from Lowell.

The street railway home rule committee met late this afternoon and it was expected that the body would take some definite stand relative to the present situation.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. Pierre Levesque of Dracut and Miss Jeanette Guilmette of this city were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory at 4.30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Rev. E. J. Turcotte, O. M. I. The bride wore a white satin gown and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas, pink, lilacs of the valley and bridal roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. John Guilmette, while the groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Arthur Levesque.
